

Brimberry case may go to the jury tonight

By PATHAY LUTZ
for the Press-Record

After closing arguments today, the jury of nine men and three women will determine if Thomas Brimberry of Granite City is guilty of lying to government officials and concealing assets from the Stix and Co. trustee after his Nov. 2, 1982, plea agreement.

The jury will begin deliberation after instructions from U.S. District Court Judge Clyde Cahill, who said that jury members will be sequestered overnight tonight, unless a verdict is reached rapidly.

BRIMBERRY is charged with eight counts of perjury and two counts of concealing assets in connection with the $16 million embezzlement scheme which destroyed the Stix and Co. stock brokerage of St. Louis. On Nov. 2, 1981, Brimberry entered into an agreement with the government to outline the details of the "basically simple fraud" in exchange for his pleading guilty to one count of filing a false income tax return and for immunity for his wife, Janice.

Brimberry is charged with nullifying the agreement by lying to officials about Duane Skinner's involvement in the scheme, selling Miller Excavating equipment which should have been turned over to the trustee, having individuals remove light fixtures, stained glass windows and a generator from his lavish Granite City home, and lying about having stock accounts at other brokerage firms. During cross-examination by Assistant U.S. Attorney Ronald Kane on Tuesday, Brimberry answered a myriad of questions regarding money he has used for living expenses since the plea agreement.

BECAUSE some $2.6 million of the total $16 million swindled from Stix still is unaccounted for, government officials allege that Brimberry has "squandered away" at least a portion of that money.

Brimberry maintains that he is "broke." His wife, Janice recently applied for Aid to Dependent Children, but was turned down. Brimberry emphasized that he lost the money gambling in casinos all over the world. "I could have easily lost $400,000 in one evening gambling in Las Vegas, Mr. Kane," he said.

He testified that he is still incarcerated because friends to whom he loaned money in the past "have not come forward."

BRIMBERRY also denied the government's charge that he lied about Duane Skinner's involvement in the scheme, saying, "Duane Skinner never knew about the fraud that was being committed at Stix and Co."

When Kane showed Brimberry his tax returns for 1978, 1979 and 1980, which were prepared by Skinner and which showed no earnings from stocks, Brimberry said that Skinner was not hiding the scheme for Brimberry, but was merely preparing the forms according to the documentation provided by Janice Brimberry.

Skinner, a former Pontoon Beach Trustee, prepared these returns at a time when he was paying "thousands of dollars" to contractors for work on the Brimberys' Granite City home and after accompanying the Brimberys on several all-expense-paid trips to Hawaii, Las Vegas and the Bahamas.

BRIMBERRY maintained that, although Skinner helped Brimberry to sell property, including Miller Excavating equipment, cars and a boat, Skinner has no alternative but to prepare the returns according to the information supplied by the Brimberys. Brimberry argued that this did not make Skinner a criminal.

"If I had thought that Duane Skinner was involved in any illegal activities, I would have turned him over to the government," Brimberry testified. "I would have turned in my own brother to protect my family. I wouldn't do anything to jeopardize my plea agreement," he told the jurors.

Although he admitted that he didn't always trust Skinner, Brimberry hired Skinner to coordinate and update the records for

Cleanup Day this Saturday

A concentrated effort to clean streets, roadways, highways, alleys, yards, business places and parks will go into full gear Saturday morning with the help of volunteers under the auspices of the Community Betterment Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Ray Edwards is serving as general chairman of the annual project.

THERE WILL be 440 Boy Scouts and 116 leaders working along the highways skirting Granite City, Venice, Madison, Mitchell and Ponton Beach, and approximately 300 Girl Scouts collecting trash and debris along the residential streets of the above areas and school yards.

The chairman announced all volunteers will pick up their clean-up equipment at the Chamber office from 3:30 to 7 p.m. Friday or from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday.

Each city and township also will provide pickup service to residents who have large items to be collected, and will continue this service throughout the forthcoming week, according to the chairman.

REFRESHMENTS will be served to the volunteers and each will receive a certificate for his assistance in the community project.

Madison alderman picked

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH

Despite an earlier denial that Andy Economy was being considered as a replacement for retired Madison Alderman Robert Donald Reeves, Mayor Mike Sasyk appointed Economy to the position Tuesday night and the council approved the appointment.

In an interview in March, Sasyk said that Economy would not take the position because he is a businessman in the community, does towing and auto repair work for the city and feels his appointment could create a conflict of interest.

ECONOMY, WHO is a partner in Lee & Andy's Auto Body and Towing Service, 1330 Madison Ave., Madison, has done auto body work on police cars in the past. His company also is the towing service that is most commonly called when an accident occurs in Madison.

Economy said Wednesday that the city attorney has looked into the matter concerning conflict of interest and has concluded that Lee & Andy's may not do auto body work for the city anymore if Economy is an alderman. He did say, however, that he could still tow a city vehicle, as long as he does not charge a fee. It would have to be done as a public service-type gesture, he said.

He also said he may ethically still tow cars that have been involved in accidents in Madison, since he does not have a written contract with the city for the work and is paid by the owners of the cars, not by the city.

PRIOR TO Economy's appointment, he submitted his resignation as the president of the Madison Board of Police Commissioners.

He said despite his resignation from that board, he is still very interested in the police department. "I'd like to help build up the morale of the police department, because there seems to be a problem there," he said.

Economy said he intends to attend a special meeting of the finance committee April 24 when the groups will discuss next year's budget of the

Beware as Friday the 13th nears

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH

With the 13th of the month falling on a Friday three times this year, including tomorrow, a superstition among people might be tempted to call off any major plans until next year.

That the number 13 is unlucky, and that it is especially unlucky when it falls on a Friday, stems back to ancient fears surrounding both the number and the day. When combined, the two seem to spell double trouble.

EVEN TODAY, the fear of the number 13 is one of the few superstitions that is openly catered to by a large number of people. For instance, hotels having a 13th floor are uncommon. In France, it is impossible to find a house numbered 13.

HANGING UP HIS HAT. Sergeant Norris Horton, a Madison policeman, will officially resign from the Madison Police Department May 15, but will begin vacation next week and will not return to the department. Horton is one of three local police officers who are resigning from their jobs to take a position with the Madison County Probation Office. Horton's resignation will leave only six uniformed police officers in the city of Madison. (Press-Record Photo by Patrick Foley)

Three are turning in their badges

Recent hirings at the Madison County Probation Office have resulted in the resignations of three local police officers. Those resigning include Norris Horton, a 22-year veteran of the Madison Police Department, Tim Simmons, a police officer in Venice for almost 10 years, and Ron Brawley, a Venice policeman for 4½ years.

All three men have been hired as adult probation officers for Madison County.

THE HIRINGS CAME as a result of a probation subsidy bill which will fund a program of intensive in-home supervision of convicted criminals. The program, established because of overcrowding in prisons, will involve persons who committed class 3 or 4 felonies.

According to Thurl Jones, director of court services for the Third Judicial Circuit, said the program will involve only persons who have committed non-violent crimes. He said the funding for the program will allow the office to hire nine additional people. "Formerly we had divided 1,500 adult probation cases among seven people, which gave each person a case load of over 200 people," said Jones. "Workers were in a paper jungle and we obviously needed help."

JONES SAID that when his office learned of the openings, they advertised in the five leading county newspapers for applicants. "We were delighted at the response because we need over 600 applicants," he said. "At first, we only required a college degree, but when we saw the volume of applicants, we added a requirement that the employees have at least two years experience in criminal law enforcement or in the court-related criminal justice system."

Jones said he was especially happy with the three applicants who came from the Quad-city area. "I'm thrilled to death with the three applicants from your area," he said. "All of them are well thought of and highly trained. We're confident they are going to make just as many contributions to the county as they have to their individual communities."

HORTON, WHO started as an auxiliary policeman with the Madison police in June 1961, said he has not submitted his letter of resignation to the city council yet, but that he is leaving. "I have enough time in to retire from the police department (20 years) but instead, I am going to pursue criminal justice from another angle."

"I think that I can help proba-

New business started to help doctors, dentists

Not just a phrase anymore, at least in the Metro-East area, "Just What The Doctor Ordered" is the slogan of a new service being offered by Compute-It Inc., headquartered in Maryville, and operated by Quad-City Area residents and former residents.

Designed to reduce costs for the various medical arts, the area physicians, dentists and hospitals can have billing, time-consuming insurance processing, collection management and other non-medical records quickly and efficiently.

Using Digital Equipment Corporation hardware along with CARE/DM software, the service is designed for healing arts practitioners and hospitals.

The system is currently in use in 13 states and is growing rapidly. The CARE/DM software was developed in Springfield, Ill., about four years ago and has been in actual operation since March 1982. Since that time, more than 100 doctors, dentists and several hospitals are on line in that community alone.

Before the system is suggested to a physician or dentist, Compute-It does a no cost or obligation evaluation of current office and business operations. "We will not recommend the system unless it can show a potential client a marked savings and a return on investment," Terrence T. Toth, vice-president, said.

"The doctor or dentist using this system will keep his office costs down while improving both productivity and efficiency," Toth commented.

The company which is already serving a medical doctor in Granite City and Edwardsville has expansion plans already on the drawing board.

With the main office and data center in Maryville, plans for satellite offices in Granite City and Alton are already in the works.

Thomas A. Hooks is president of "Compute-It." Mark A. Davis is vice-president in charge of data center operations and Toth is vice-president in charge of sales and installations.

Before the system is suggested to a physician or dentist. Compute it.

Nameoki residents complain of water damage to homes

By RACHEL NEWSOME
for the Press-Record

Many complaints were heard from residents at Monday night's Nameoki Township meeting concerning area water problems.

"There's nowhere for the water to go, so we get it in our basements," explained one resident. Several homeowners reported up to a foot of water in their basements. One owner stated she was pumping many gallons of water out of her basement every hour; another claimed he had approximately $3,000 worth of damage.

A primary cause of the township water problem is that an Arlington water pump, damaged in the past by vandals, still is not in operating condition. Frank Mehele, Nameoki highway commissioner, who can legally pump water only to protect his own roads, is unable to help further because there are no roads near the pump, so the property is out of his jurisdiction.

Consensus of opinion at the meeting was that additional pumping would be required to contain the rising ground water level. Supervisor Harry Briggs indicated his intent to further pursue his earlier requests to obtain replacement pumps for the malfunctioning units presently installed at the holding pond on Shirlene Drive.

An agreement was reached at the township meeting to immediately begin sandbagging and running sump pumps at the holding pond.

Helen Hawkins, reporting her earlier attempts to make the Metro-East Sanitary District Board aware of the problems, stated that the levee board has not heard many complaints from area residents. She therefore urged residents to express their concerns as soon as possible.

Nameoki files 'substitute' audit report

Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs was applauded by residents at the Town Board's meeting Monday night after reporting the requirement for filing an annual audit was finally fulfilled, although it was one year late and was a "substitute" for the 1982 report.

Residents questioned the possibility of not receiving revenue sharing payments due to the late filing. It was pointed out at the meeting that the first payment already has been received.

In a letter dated March 31 to Kent A. Peterson, deputy director of the Office of Revenue Sharing in Washington, D.C., Briggs wrote, "We submit herewith our 1983 financial audit report as a substitute for our 1982 report, as suggested by your office. We trust this will correct the deficiencies noted by your office regarding the 1982 reports and respectfully ask that our payments continue without delay."

"A delay in payments would force us to halt our programs financed by revenue sharing funds. A substantial portion of our revenue sharing funds are used to provide programs and services to our senior citizens and we have no other funds to use for that purpose," the letter said.

In the summary of the audit for the year ending Feb. 28, 1983, James Degnan, certified public accountant, stated, "The township has not maintained adequate records relating to the general fixed assets group of accounts, and, as a result, we were unable to satisfy ourselves as to the carrying value of general fixed assets."

In the audit, Degnan also noted that the township again failed to follow a recommendation from the Illinois Department of Public Aid from 1977 that approximately $5,800 be transferred from the Town Fund to the General Assistance Fund to pay for unauthorized salaries. "The request was based on the contention that the salary paid for part-time help during the period Feb. 1, 1970, through June 30, 1976, was not approved by the (Public Aid) department. The township has filed suit against the former supervisor of general assistance (Louis Whitsell) who was in office during the period in question. The suit seeks recovery of $6,185 and punitive damages in the amount of $50,000. The outcome of this litigation is unknown at this time," Degnan said in the audit.

A resolution for the commission of the accounting firm of Schlosser Inc. was brought before the board and was approved, giving Schlosser responsibility for preparing the 1984 audit.

Trustee Helen Hawkins, trustee, put forward a proposal to revise the fiscal year in order to better facilitate the receipt and disbursement of funds. That proposal, endorsed by the township electors at Tuesday night's annual town meeting, is to be studied by the trustees before a decision is made.

Alleges driver hits fences on Illinois

Harry L. White, 33, of 2223 Missouri Ave., was charged with unlawful use of a weapon, failing to give information, upon striking private property and failure to reduced speed to avoid an accident at 9:40 p.m. Tuesday.

White allegedly was driving a 1973 pickup truck owned by J.H. Berra Construction Co., St. Louis County, which reportedly went into yards and struck a chainlink fence and posts at the residence of Marion Paul, 2138 Illinois Ave., and hit about 25 feet of picket fencing at the Florence Paul home, 2132 Illinois Ave.

After the mishap, the driver allegedly left the scene and officers searched the area, locating the truck at the White home.

A .22-magnum blue steel revolver containing five live rounds of ammunition and one spent round allegedly was found under the brake pedal of the vehicle. A black leather holster also was in the truck, reports said.

White was released after posting a $102 cash bond and his driver's license.

GET GREAT FINANCING THRU FIRST GRANITE CITY NATIONAL BANK ON ALL QUALIFIED PRE-OWNED CARS

Woodrome Oldsmobile Open Sunday
1918 & MADISON AVENUE GRANITE CITY, ILL.

YOU HAVE UNTIL MONDAY TO SAVE ON LAST YEAR'S TAXES WHILE YOU SAVE FOR YOUR FUTURE.

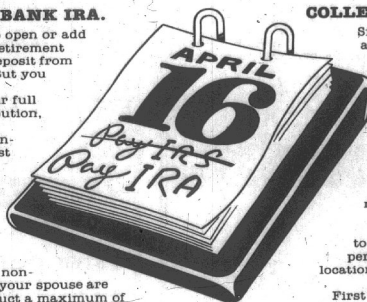

INVEST IN A FIRST BANK IRA.

You still have a few days to open or add to a First Bank Individual Retirement Account, and deduct your deposit from your 1983 taxable income. But you only have until April 16th.

If you've already made your full 1983 First Bank IRA contribution, now's the time to deposit to your 1984 IRA and start earning high tax-deferred interest on these funds, too.

DEDUCT UP TO $4,000 ANNUALLY.

If you file a single tax return, you can reduce your taxable income up to $2,000 annually. Or up to $2,250 a year. If you have a non-working spouse, if you and your spouse are both employed, you can deduct a maximum of $4,000 annually. So instead of paying Uncle Sam, that money will be yours, quickly building toward your retirement.

COLLECT A FORTUNE AT AGE 65.

Since your deposits and earned interest are both tax deferred until withdrawn, normally at retirement, your funds can grow dramatically. For example, if you deposit $2,000 (with an assumed annual yield of 10%) each year in an IRA beginning at age 30, you will have over $500,000 in your fund at age 65.

WE'LL EXPLAIN THE DETAILS.

As a wage earner, you are automatically eligible for a First Bank IRA. So, to save on your taxes while you save for your future, now is the time to open a First Bank IRA. New Accounts personnel at either of our two convenient locations will be happy to explain the details.

Brimberry

Brimberry's various corporations. "I HAD a small problem with Mr. Skinner," Brimberry said. "Mr. Skinner was a CPA (certified public accountant), but he didn't know how to fill out a tax return." Brimberry told Kane, saying that Skinner never filed returns for himself (after 1978) or for the various companies he ran for Brimberry.

When Kane asked Brimberry why he entrusted Skinner with the guardianship of the accounts for these companies after he knew that Skinner was not filing returns, Brimberry responded, "Because he would cost more for somebody else to do it—money that I did not have." Commenting on earlier testimony by Viva Elliot, former secretary for several companies owned by Brimberry, that she gave Stix mail retrieved from a Granite City post office box to Skinner, Brimberry told Kane that Mrs. Elliot only delivered Stix pamphlets and informational brochures to Skinner. Brimberry testified that he intercepted account statements for nine of the 10 Stix accounts before they were mailed.

ACCOUNT statements for the James Massa account were mailed "each and every month," Brimberry testified. The intercepted statements were "shredded," along with phony securities, Brimberry said, telling Kane, "If those statements got into the wrong hands, my whistle could have went up on a minute." Brimberry denied earlier testimony by Arthur Miller Jr. of Granite City that he had told Miller to lie about Skinner's involvement by telling him, "We both stand a good chance of going to jail and we'll see a friend on the outside. Duane Skinner is that friend."

"HE'S LYING," Brimberry told jurors.

Brimberry also told jurors that Jerry and Sally Maeras blackmailed the Brimberys for approximately $350,000 to $400,000 while the scheme was in operation, and that Maeras had once threatened to kill Brimberry if Brimberry ever "double-crossed" him in their financial dealings. "Blackmail funds" were kept in the Brimberry home to cover the extortion, Brimberry said. He disputed earlier testimony by Maeras that he instructed Maeras to burn records relating to Maeras' illegal accounts at Stix, saying, "Jerry Maeras is a pathological liar. Jerry Maeras lied."

JURORS were dismissed for the morning session on Monday as Brimberry was taken to City Hospital in St. Louis. Although officials of the court refused to comment on the reason for the dismissal to prevent prejudicing the jury, reports learned that Brimberry's diabetic condition was the source of the problem.

Brimberry has appeared again and tired during much of the trial

Friday, 13th

After house number 12 comes house number 12a. In Italy, the number 13 cannot be found on a lottery ticket. Most airlines omit the seats of the number on their airplanes and few sailors will leave port on the 13th day of the month.

But perhaps the biggest superstition surrounding the number 13, involves sitting down at a table with 12 other persons. It is believed that one of the 13 sitting at the table (commonly the first to rise from the table) will die before the year is out.

THIS BELIEF has been strengthened by the fact that 13 sat down to the Last Supper. The first to rise from the table was Judas, who went out to betray Christ and later committed suicide.

It also has been backed up, in a way, by insurance companies, who have said that out of 13 people taken at random, one will die within a year.

But the root reason for the fear of 13 may be that 13 is one more than 12. Twelve is considered the number of completeness—a whole year having 12 months, a whole day having 12 hours. It seems people may be frightened of starting a new cycle, or going beyond the complete set.

IN EARLY Christian numerology, 13 was the number of sin, because it was beyond the 12 Apostles.

And in the world of magic, 13 is thought to be the number that brings the dead back to temporary life. The card numbered 13, used by fortune tellers, is the death card. Thirteen also is the traditional number of the coven of witches, with the 13th member being the devil.

The origins of Friday superstitions also are numerous. One of the most common beliefs is that Eve tempted Adam with the evil apple on Friday. Tradition also says that the flood in the Bible, the crucifixion at the Tower of Babel and the crucifixion of Christ all occurred on a Friday.

and slept through most of the opening statements because of heavy medication for a hernia condition.

The trial resumed in the afternoon, but lasted only one and one-half hours, after Judge Cahill apparently agreed with Defense Attorney Lubell's contention that Brimberry had "had enough" for the day.

DURING THE SESSION, Brimberry reiterated earlier testimony that he was selling Miller Excavating equipment for living expenses after the Nov. 2, 1981, plea agreement and that Internal Revenue Service (IRS) officials knew that the sale of equipment was occurring.

"The IRS watched as one of the pieces of equipment was being moved (from the Miller Excavating site in Nameoki Township)," Brimberry testified. He said that James Wherein, the IRS agent who participated in the interviews with Brimberry and who has testified before the government in all six-related trials, was told that equipment was being repaired for eventual sale.

Brimberry also testified that Miller Excavating was sold in the later summer of 1981 and that he had no ties to the company other than "what they owed (him) for the sale of the equipment."

Brimberry's testimony came in the fourth week of a trial that was supposed to end in three weeks. He faces a possible 50 years imprisonment on the 10-count indictment.

Court appearance on three charges

Carrie J. Thomas, 22, of Lake Drive in Pontoon Beach, appeared at the Granite City Court at 1:20 p.m. Monday and pleaded guilty to charges of disorderly conduct, driving while her license was revoked and illegal transportation of alcohol. She was arrested early that morning in the 1900 block of St. Clair Avenue following an incident in the 2900 block of Warren Avenue, where a resident complained of receiving numerous telephone calls from Miss Thomas, starting at 3 a.m.

After telling her to quit calling, the woman then began driving up and down the street in front of his home blowing the car horn and yelling, he alleged.

An open bottle of beer reportedly was on the floor of the Thomas auto at the time it was halted by police, reports said.

Two injured at Nameoki and Jill

Two passengers sustained injuries in an auto involved in a collision on Nameoki Road at Jill Avenue at 11:55 a.m. Monday.

Taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center were Benjamin L. Buckner Jr., 19, and Mary L. Buckner, 42, both of 705 Bissell St., Venice, who were passengers in an auto operated by John A. Garrett Sr., 68, of East St. Louis.

Garrett's car, headed south on Nameoki Road, was struck by a vehicle driven by Angela M. DeMaris, 17, of 2713 Buxton Ave., which turned left from the north-bound lanes in front of the other auto, reports said.

'Y' to offer contract bridge lessons

Contract bridge lessons will be offered to the general public by the Tri-City YMCA, it has been announced by Chris Carezza, recreation director.

Teaching the eight-week course in bridge will be Mrs. Al (Joyce) Barnes of Granite City. The lessons, once weekly, will be Tuesday mornings from 10 a.m. through noon at the "Y." The classes will start April 24 and end June 12. The 16-hours of instructions will cost $24.

Explained Carezza, "Mrs. Barnes studied bridge under St. Louis Jerry Levitt, whose team, the ACES, won the world's championship in the mid-'60s. She teaches standard American as taught by Charles Goren."

He went on to add, "Mrs. Barnes originally began teaching bridge around 1960 to a group of newcomers to the Quad-City area and taught for nearly five years. 'We at the Y' have had numerous requests to offer classes in bridge playing and we are grateful that Mrs. Barnes has agreed to teach the course."

Said Mrs. Barnes, "Those desiring to take the lessons should remember that bridge is a fun game. One should approach it for the sheer fun of playing. Many people have been scared away from learning the game from the fact that a mystique has grown up about it due to the big play that the game has enjoyed in the newspapers."

"All I ask anyone taking the course is to remember, bridge is a fun game and should be approached in that spirit," Mrs. Barnes added.

Men and women interested in the lessons, should call Carezza at 676-7200 or Mrs. Barnes at 452-0433.

During Horton's years with the police department, he has been involved in juvenile work and in the patrol division. He is leaving the rank of sergeant and is the only black police officer on the Madison police force. (Alderman Donald Garrett said he intends to bring up this point when replacements are being considered for Horton.)

ASIDE FROM attending numerous investigative and social service seminars, Horton has associate degrees in law enforcement, security and administration from Belleville Area College and a bachelor of science degree in administration of justice from McKendree College. He was one of the Illinois Police Training Institute at the University of Illinois.

He is a member of the Illinois National Juvenile Officers' Association, the Madison County Police Association and the Illinois Benevolent and Protective Association.

Horton will start working with the Madison County probation office on April 30, but his resignation with the Madison Police will not be effective until May 15, since he is technically on vacation until then.

SIMMONS, who was hired by the Venice Police Department in August 1974, is a graduate of McKendree College, where he earned a bachelor of science degree in criminal justice. A lifelong resident of Venice, he is a member of the Illinois Benevolent and Protective Association, Scottish Rite Bodies, the Masons, the Madison County Police Association, the Illinois Police Association and was secretary of the Venice police club.

Brawley, also a lifelong resident of Venice, was hired by the police department in September 1979. He is a member of the Madison County Police Association and the Illinois Police Association.

Thirteen also has been a good number for Americans. On the back of a dollar bill (which has been minted since 1935) there are several examples of the number 13. The incomplete pyramid has 13 steps. The American bald eagle is holding an olive branch with 13 leaves and 19 berries in one claw, while the other claw is holding 13 arrows. These 13s have been put on the bill in commemoration of the 13 original colonies.

Friday, incidentally, is the traditional payday for many.

So whether or not one is superstitious about tomorrow, one has to admit that 13 isn't all bad.

Cahokia Mounds land acquisition in DOC budget request

A $637,000 request for land acquisition at Cahokia Mounds State Park, funding increases to make possible a $2.5 million boost in fish production at the state's new Sand Ridge hatchery, and $1 million for restoration of historic David Davis Mansion in Bloomington are among important components of the Conservation Department's $69.8 million fiscal 1985 budget proposal.

Also sought is $414,700 to complete a four-year lodge rehabilitation project at Starved Rock State Park, $250,000 to start major renovation of Pere Marquette State Park's lodge near Grafton, and $1.5 million for a Lake Michigan harbor and marina.

In addition, DOC is asking for $300,000 to construct a pheasant brooder house that will help to ensure continuance of the state's controlled hunting program, and for funds to add five more Conservation police officers and patrol vehicles to expand the department's law enforcement and safety efforts.

Along with these provisions for Illinois' cultural and recreational well-being, the budget also contains commitments to the state's natural heritage, including $250,000 for a statewide wetlands inventory and $550,000 in Non-Game Wildlife Check-Off funds for programs to aid endangered and non-game wildlife.

But "Stewardship" is the main thrust of the new budget, with more than 82 percent of its expanded capital improvement expenditures aimed at improvement and maintenance of existing DOC facilities and properties, according to Conservation Director David Kenney.

Close to 100 state parks, conservation areas, historic sites, fish and wildlife areas, and other department properties, most of them named specifically in fund requests, will benefit from projects provided for in the FY 85 appropriation proposal, Kenney pointed out. "New Capital Improvement money—as opposed to re-appropriations—is up by more than $3 million over the previous year, he noted.

In explaining the budget, Director Kenney said it consisted of three component budgets—operating, from which $47,706,000 is sought this year; capital improvements, a $20,897,400 item, and grants, $15,527,900—totaling $84,133,300. The apparent $14 million discrepancy between the appropriation's $69.8 million announced total and the sum of its components is explained by those funds earmarked for DOC in the budgets of the Department of Transportation and Illinois Capital Development Board, Kenney said.

The Operating budget describes and pays for the Department's program and property operations—utilities, salaries, insurance, and maintenance of vehicles, machinery and equipment, for example. The grants budget deals with the distribution of funds from various federal and state grant programs.

Perhaps of greatest interest to most Illinoisians is the capital improvements budget, which provides for the development and expansion of department properties, facilities and recreational opportunities. It is the appropriation having the most direct effect on the approximately 340,000 acres of land owned or managed by DOC at some 546 separate sites, and on their campgrounds, roads, building, sanitary facilities, water systems, lakes, lodges, recreational and conservation projects and program development.

About half of the capital improvements budget is re-appropriated funds, while the $9.8 million balance is "new" money. Last year, new money amounted to about $6 million.

June 30 is the deadline for approval of the FY 85 budget by the General Assembly, Kenney noted.

The $637,000 earmarked for Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site is for acquisition of parcels in a residential area that encroaches on the critical historical central plaza area of the prehistoric Indian compound. The subdivision includes portions of the state site's ancient mounds. Acquisition of such holdings—privately-owned properties within the state historic site—began a decade ago.

The Pere Marquette State Park allocation is for planning and engineering related to the lodge rehabilitation. In order to avoid closing down lodge operations, a two-phase program is proposed: development of new facilities first, followed by rehabilitation of existing facilities.

"The lodge buildings were built almost 50 years ago by the Civilian Conservation Corps, and they have reached the age where they need extensive work if they are to continue serving the public as they have in the past," Kenney noted.

The $555,000 sought for endangered species programs is a figure predicted on estimates of income the department will receive from the new Non-Game Wildlife Conservation Check-off. The check-off plan allows Illinois taxpayers to contribute a portion of their state income tax refund for programs benefiting endangered and nongame wildlife species. DOC will receive only what the check-off produces, whether more or less than the budgeted amount.

Plans for the money in FY 1985 include: implementation of the first statewide conservation program for amphibians and reptiles; establishment of a comprehensive public information program dealing with non-game animal species; provision of technical assistance to private and public landowners on non-game wildlife; implementation of management practices for endangered and other non-game wildlife species on private and public lands, including DOC's prairie chicken sanctuaries, and the launching of population distribution and habitat requirement surveys on endangered and non-game species.

Madison School Board members approve fees

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
of the Press-Record

Members of the Madison School Board voted 4-3 last week to approve a fee increase for students attending kindergarten, and to establish a fee for students in grades four through eight.

The move came after Curriculum

Director Delores Folkerts told the board that there has been another increase in the price of textbooks, which would make it impossible to stay within the book budget. "I hate to bring something up like this, but we just can't keep within our budget any more," she said.

THE INCREASE would mean that the fee for kindergartners would be raised from $5 to $7, the $10 fee for grades one through three would stay the same, grades four through six would pay a fee of $5 and students in grade seven and eight will pay $10.

Mrs. Folkerts said the reason for the fee is due to the increase in the number of workbooks that are used by the students. The workbooks are written in by each student, so they may not be reused.

Voting against the measure were Board President Paul Bargiel, Ed Newsome and Don Garrett.

IN FAVOR OF the measure were Billie Bosworth, Ed Dohnal, Ed Warchol and Frank Eaves.

Garrett said he felt the board members should have been given more time to think about the issue before a vote was called. "I can't see why we weren't told about this before now," he said. "I would have liked to have asked the people I represent to see if they would be in favor of this type of move."

Madison School Superintendent John Pelchett said that, despite the increase, the Madison School District still charges one of the lowest fees in the state.

MRS. FOLKERTS said East Alton was the only municipality that did not charge its public school students a fee, and she said that was because they passed a law several years ago that prohibited fees. "But we have the lowest fees in the whole county," she said.

In other news, the board hired three new custodians for the school district. The new custodians are Don Whittecot, who will start April 25, Harry Peterson, currently employed as a dispatcher for the Madison Police Department, who will start April 25, and Timothy Granderson, who will start work July 1.

The three men will replace retiring custodians, Don Reeves, Edward Leleniewski and William Jenkins. ALSO AT the meeting, board members approved the annual trip for the school band. The group will leave at 10 p.m. on Thursday, April 26, and will travel all night to Elkhart, Ind. Once there, the group will tour three different companies that manufacture the various band instruments played.

The group will stay in the Holiday Inn in Elkhart on Friday night and will travel to South Bend, Ind., Saturday, for a tour of the Notre Dame campus.

Permission also was given for the high school band to host its annual dinner in the high school cafeteria on Wednesday, April 11.

Red Cross sets downtown community blood drive

The Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross will conduct a blood drive in its downtown offices at 21st Street and Edison Avenue Thursday, April 19.

Gwen O'Guin, director of the local chapter, said the open blood drive will seek donors from the downtown area, as well as donors from throughout the community.

"The need for blood is desperate right now," she said. "It has been for quite some time."

Miss O'Guin said that a certain drop in blood contributions is still apparently due to people thinking AIDS, the Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome disease, can be transmitted to a blood donor.

She said there is no chance for anybody getting AIDS by giving blood. Disposable needles are used for each donor and no needle is used more than once.

The drive is open to all healthy persons age 17 years or older. Donations will be accepted from 2 to 7 p.m. on April 19. Miss O'Guin asked that those interested call the chapter at 452-7184 to schedule the donation.

Blood may be donated every eight weeks. The giving of blood takes from seven to 10 minutes, but donors should expect to spend about an hour at the drive to allow for questions, blood pressure testing and waiting in line.

Donors over 66 years of age need a health statement from their physicians.

Legal, training workshops open to area's unemployed

The United Steelworkers of America, Local 1063, and the Metropolitan Re-Employment Project will again be presenting free informational workshops for laid-off workers in Madison and St. Clair counties.

The topics for this month's workshops are legal aid and educational training opportunities.

On April 18, Alan Stenz, managing attorney for Land of Lincoln Legal Assistance Foundation, Inc., will talk on a variety of consumer information topics, including foreclosure, repossession, tenant rights and contract suits.

On April 25, local school and training facilities will have representatives discuss programs available for adults who are considering returning to school.

Both workshops will be conducted from 9 a.m. to noon at the Tri-City Area YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave. Refreshments will be provided and the public is being invited to attend. Those wishing further information may contact Local 1063 at 877-8555 or Brenda Derby at 876-2305.

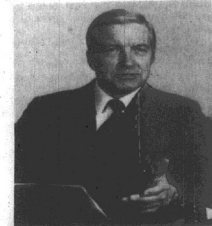

Sen. Percy to visit GCC tomorrow

U.S. Sen. Charles Percy (R-Illinois) will be in Granite City Friday at a Senate special committee on aging at the Granite City Center of Belleville Area College.

The event, from 9:30 a.m. to noon Friday, is a public meeting on home and community-based health care and will examine the health services available in this area. The public is being invited.

Sunday, Percy will meet Republicans in Montgomery County, in Hillsboro and Litchfield. Monday, the senator will be in Collinsville from 8 to 9:30 a.m. From 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., he will address a businessmen's conference in the new Collinsville Hilton Hotel and then will stop briefly at the Collinsville Herald newspaper. From 11:30 to 12:15 p.m., Percy will tour the new Alton Lock and Dam 26 construction project.

From 1 to 2 p.m. Monday, he will

'Teenagers of the Month' named by Elks Lodge 1063

Miss Lisa Willaredt and Clifton Gasset have been named "teenagers of the month" by Granite City Elks Lodge 1063. Both are seniors at Granite City High School.

Miss Willaredt, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Willaredt, 2611 Stratford Lane.

She has been active in basketball and track during her freshman and sophomore years in addition to being a member of the Varsity Club. Other school memberships include the Silver Spirit Club, Foreign Language Club and the historian of the Science Club. She is an honor roll student and also has received honors in math.

Miss Willaredt is in Computer Lab, has taken Art 1 through 3 and vocational graphic arts. Her hobbies include the fine arts, graphic design and illustration, art history, computer programming, gardening and fishing.

Gasset is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Whitsell, 2201 Kilgore Drive.

He has been active in band and was historian of the band lettermen's club during his junior year. He also worked on the school newspaper that year.

His hobbies include music, non-competitive sports, camping, swimming, skiing and watching sports.

The "teenagers of the month" program, sponsored by the Elks Lodge, is an effort to recognition to outstanding teens in the area. Basis for their selection is achievement in citizenship, scholarship and leadership.

The prospective students are nominated monthly by their classmates and final selection is made by a student-teacher panel that screens the nominees.

Little Lamb Preschool will register

Little Lamb Preschool will hold its annual registration for fall sessions from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on May 7 to 10.

The registration will be conducted in the basement of Hope Lutheran Church, 3715 Wabash Ave. A $10 registration fee is required.

Tuition for the fall term will be $22 monthly for each child who attends twice a week, or $30 each month for those attending three times a week. A child must be either 3 or 4 years old by Dec. 31, 1984, to be eligible to attend the preschool classes, according to Sarah Repp, director.

Little Lamb also is preparing for an open house, which will include a short program presented by the preschool children. Open house will be conducted at 7 p.m. on May 1 and 2. Anyone interested in the preschool is being invited to attend.

Settlement given in job dismissal

Shirley Jones of Nameoki Township has been awarded a settlement for the abolishment of her position with the Nameoki Township Highway Department. Her job as a dispatcher was terminated by Highway Commissioner Frank Mehlisch on Sept. 30, 1983.

The settlement requires that she be called back to work by Monday, April 16, that she be compensated at her usual rate of pay for the time since her termination and that her work be turned back over to her.

Mrs. Benson was represented during the proceedings by Business Agent Dale Stewart of Teamsters' local 525.

She said she has been employed as a secretary to the town clerk since 12 days after her dismissal from the highway department.

Her husband, who filed a similar suit over the termination of his job as a mechanic for the Nameoki Highway Department, still is awaiting a decision on his case.

$850 MUSCLE FOOD GONE

In a burglary at the Natural Habit Health Food store, 20 Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, the intruder was selective in the items he stole, choosing mostly muscle building foods with an estimated value of $850. It was reported late last week. Entry was gained by prying a steel door and twisting off the knob on an interior door.

ALLEGED OCCUPANTS OF AUTO HAVE BEEN

Receiving a report of an erratic driver on Propes Avenue at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, officers halted a vehicle matching the description being operated by a 16-year-old youth on Palmer Avenue at Nameoki Road.

The youth was charged with driving without a valid driver's license and for illegal transportation of alcohol when an open can of beer allegedly was seen on the car seat.

Charles F. Constant, 25, of Dallas, Tex., a passenger, allegedly had a can of beer between his legs and was charged with illegal possession of alcohol. He pleaded guilty to the charge in a court appearance at 1 p.m. Tuesday and was released after paying a $100 fine, plus costs.

The juvenile was released pending a hearing upon posting a $150 cash bond.

FORCE TRUCK TO CURB

PASSENGER IS BEATEN

Sam Givens, 20, of the 3000 block of Iowa Street, told police this week that a brown auto forced a pickup truck in which he was a passenger to the curb and three men got out of the auto.

While one man beat Givens, the other two went toward his friend, who was driving the pickup, the injured man said.

Givens sustained a laceration under his right eye and was to seek medical attention at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He did not recognize his assailant, Givens said.

Nameoki electors vote to continue to fund cleanup

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Editor

About 24 electors at Nameoki Township's annual meeting Tuesday night decided to continue to fund the township's environmental cleanup program with $2,000 a month from federal revenue sharing funds, if available.

The highway department of Superintendent Frank Mehlisch will conduct the cleanup program, picking up large trash, such as washing machines, dryers and other large items, on a regular basis and picking up tree limbs on a different schedule. The schedules will be announced later.

During the summer, for two months of so, lime pickups will be suspended so crews can concentrate on road repairs, according to Township Trustee W. Lee Adams, who was elected moderator of the annual town meeting.

The resolution authorizing funding of the environmental cleanup program specifies that the town board of trustees has the right to withhold the payments any month they do not feel the program was properly carried out.

The electors (all registered voters in the township who attended the meeting) also voted to transfer

$7,000 from federal revenue sharing to the road and bridge fund for health projects, primarily the Ivy Lane drainage project, "if it can be worked out with the highway commissioner and subject to the receipt of federal revenue sharing funds."

Adams specified, Drainage on Route 162 where Long Lake drains into Elm Slough also may be done with the money.

The electors authorized the town board to study changing the end of the fiscal year from Feb. 28 to June 30 so the year will begin with the receipt of tax money, thus hopefully avoiding borrowing at the end of the fiscal year to get through until taxes are received.

Town Clerk Lee Ridgeway read the minutes of last year's meeting, the supervisor's annual report and the highway commissioner's annual report, which were accepted by the electors.

Trustee Helen Hawkins used the meeting as a platform to express her feelings that some action should be taken this year to avoid the "dual tax collections," where taxes have been collected in past years both by township tax collectors and by the county treasurer.

"One has to go," Mrs. Hawkins said.

Supervisor Harry Briggs responded, "I was in Springfield today and there were rumors floating. The Supreme Court has ruled the county treasurer has to turn over all interest on invested taxes to the taxing bodies and it looks now, by rumors, like we might go back to letting the township collect all taxes, both installments."

The discussion was conducted under protest from Trustee Joe Garcia, who contended that such discussions were improper under the agenda of the annual town meeting. Attorney Irvin C. Slate Jr. ruled that the discussion probably was not illegal, but it would probably be improper for the electors to take any binding action on the issue, since it was not on the agenda.

VIOLATE CURFEW RULES

Noticing five youths standing on a sidewalk in the 2200 block of Washington Avenue during the early morning hours this week, officers saw several of the boys throw onto the ground what appeared to be beer. Two youths, 16 and 17 years old, who were inebriated, were charged with curfew violations. Both were released on notices to appear.

Start GC classes before—or after—Labor Day?

A Sept. 5-June 14 school calendar for 1984-85 was on Tuesday night's Granite City School Board agenda, but action was postponed until May 1 to obtain the public's reaction.

A desire to start classes after Labor Day was voiced by some residents a year ago, and the idea was put into detailed calendar form for board consideration this week.

But opposition to such a late school opening also is being heard. Those with opinions for or against now will have the remainder of this month to let the board know how they feel.

Despite some families asking that a decision be made so that they can complete their August vacation plans, no vote is to be taken until next month.

Mrs. Shirley Stoll, president of Local 743, American Federation of Teachers, said the calendar up for action Tuesday would cause a three-week interval between employees' paydays instead of the usual two weeks.

She also cited the potential effect on students competing with students from other districts for summer jobs.

Board Member Alan Crider said the calendar might make it difficult for some teachers to enroll in summer university courses.

Principal Gilbert Walsmeyer of Granite City High School said the first varsity football game might have to be played before the start of the term, although this would cause no problem with the Illinois High School Association.

The chief alternative this fall would be to start the first semester about a week earlier than Sept. 5, a discussion showed. This would match plans of the Madison and Venice districts, which interchange students with Granite City for some special education classes.

A year ago, the school calendar began two weeks earlier than Sept. 5, but classes did not actually start until after Labor Day due to a contract disagreement.

Comments on 1984-85 will be sought from residents, including the Citizens Advisory Council at its April 25 meeting.

The calendar on this week's agenda called for Sept. 5-Jan. 25 and Jan. 28-June 14 semesters, including six "snow days" that could shorten the spring term if not utilized for severe winter weather.

Pupil absenteeism is high prior to Labor Day, school administrators said.

Snags on 2 school leases

By BILL WINTER

Snags developed Tuesday night on lease proposals potentially affecting the Nameoki and Lake school buildings. Both schools are idle due to enrollment declines.

"Separation of church and state," a constitutional requirement, at least temporarily will delay leasing Nameoki to the Agape Fellowship, a coalition of churches hoping to establish a Community Christian Interdenominational School.

SCHOOL ATTORNEY William Schooley will confer with state legal authorities on ways to assure "arms-length" determination of lease details, perhaps through competitive bidding.

Board President David Partney warned against opening the district to the possibility of a lawsuit that might be filed by someone objecting to use of a Christian curriculum in facilities financed by taxpayers.

Utilization of the Lake building, 3201 E. 23rd St., by the Educational Therapy Center is not being considered by the school district at this time because sponsors have not submitted a detailed proposal to the board.

ETC, a semi-independent agency serving students with behavioral disorders, has an advisory board that includes educators from the Madison County area.

Working closely with the agency are the Illinois Department of Mental Health and the office of Madison County regional superintendent of schools.

Although Granite City School Supt. B.J. Davis and Special Education Director Steven M. Balen attended the April 3 City Council meeting to provide background information sought by the council, they and the school district are not serving as sponsors of the project.

Supt. Davis told the Press-Record that ETC approached the schools about the possibility of obtaining a lease, and that preliminary information was gathered.

ALTHOUGH the school system believes rumors in recent weeks have exaggerated negatives and minimized positives about the plan, the Board of Education has not taken a stand for or against the project. It did not begin studying preliminary data until March 27.

Supt. Davis said it will be up to the agency to seek general community acceptance, if the proposal is to be salvaged.

Many citizens residing near Lake School are actively opposing the idea of a residential center staffed by "house parents."

THE CITY COUNCIL has voiced doubt that school zoning would permit an overnight center, and has urged that the Board of Education not lease school space to ETC.

Lee Thomas addressed the board Tuesday night, saying the Granite City Citizens Forum recommends formation of a liaison panel, since some school and city issues overlap. He called for "meaningful" dialogue between the two governments.

A brief discussion brought out that, while both taxing bodies have some interests in school and city deliberations, the fact that they meet simultaneously, blocks away from each other, prevents direct contact on meeting nights.

The future of Nameoki School, 1620 Pontoon Road, was discussed extensively with Pastor Tom Edwards, Agape Fellowship president.

He proposed that the building be provided at no charge, or for a token amount, since the church coalition would be providing many services of benefit to the school district.

MAINTENANCE of the school would be financed by Agape, which also would provide insurance, make repairs and pay utility costs. Jobs would be created for 25 to 30 persons, he estimated.

Accompanying him to the board meeting was Attorney Mark Goldenberg.

Pastor Edwards said a tentative timetable called for pre-enrollment to begin this Sunday. He added that a budget will be developed soon, based on whether Nameoki School or some other property will be used.

The exact amount of tuition has not been set, but there is confidence that the initial enrollment will exceed 100, the pastor said, adding that existing Christian academies here are full and have waiting lists.

RONALD LANDMAN, director of buildings and grounds, said Nameoki School received some damage in the April 3 hailstorm and that it is serving as a storage warehouse, particularly since Johnson School was vacated for sale to the Knights of Columbus.

Edwards said Beta and Alpha Omega are among the curriculum programs being considered for use in instruction that will emphasize both basic knowledge and religious principles.

He proposed a series of leases that could be ended by either party with a year's notice.

If the school district took possession of a school building for major building improvements had been made by Agape, the cost could be pro-rated over a period of years, the pastor commented.

Asserting that, from a legal standpoint, the district must avoid "subsidizing religious education," Attorney Schooley said the Agape issue differs from the board's decision to lease Granite City High School North to Belleville Area College.

ILLINOIS LAWS and court interpretations say that school districts cannot provide space for student religious meetings, Schooley added.

Edwards said about 25 churches want to participate in the school and would share the cost along with parents. Agape is not-for-profit and tuition would be set at a level avoiding any profit, the board was told.

There is intense local interest in a Bible-oriented school, Pastor Edwards emphasized.

Pres. Partney commented, "You're trying to do a good thing."

but it wouldn't be fair to the taxpayers if we risk involving the school district in a lawsuit. We need federal or state legal approval."

School Treasurer Kelly Hogan said, "We could rent every building" currently vacant if the district was willing to accept rent to meet maintenance costs.

WITH BUSINESSES and others considering locating in this area, there might be considerable competition if schools were made available on the basis of lease competition, board members speculated.

It was decided to await further legal opinions, and Pastor Edwards agreed that the Fellowship does not want to proceed in a way that would tie the schools' and churches' hands through litigation.

In regard to the scheduled sale of Washington School, 2600 W. 20th St., to Masco for $22,367, the board agreed unanimously to sell the building under a contract for deed.

Walter Aerns said he had spoken, noting that this was one of the options offered by the district.

Under the contract for deed, 25 percent of the total cost will be paid and the remainder will be retired over a five-year period. Interest will be 11 percent (one percent less than the current prime rate).

WASHINGTON is to be converted into apartments.

It was related that the Nameoki Presbyterian Church—acquiring a 100x265-foot area of the adjacent Nameoki School campus for $17,125—will agree in writing to limit its use to parking of the congregation's autos, as long as the school district owns the campus.

'Discovery days' project for gifted

Election of new officers, special reports and planning for a "Discovery Days" special activity highlighted the March meeting of the Granite City Council for Gifted Children at Parkview School last week.

Officers for the 1984-85 school year include John Mefford, president; Tim Noud, vice-president; Rita McConnell, treasurer; and Patsy Thomas, hospitality chairman. The position of secretary remains open.

Kathy Dauer, former president of the group, reported that an honors banquet is being planned for high school students in April.

Mrs. Dauer explained the JETS (Jr. Engineering Technical Society) program. This year's team advanced farther than any other engineering team from Granite City. Mrs. Dauer commented that the competition at the state level "bears witness to the fact that our schools are doing something right."

The Council decided to donate funds to help support honors banquets at Coolidge Junior High and Granite City High School.

President Judy Russell updated the group on this year's special project, "Discovery Days," scheduled May 12 from 9 a.m. to noon.

Special events will include a CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) lesson, computer events, craft activities and a demonstration of break-dancing.

Volunteers to help coordinate the Discovery program are being sought. Parents will donate cookies for the day's refreshments.

Warren Collins, elementary schools administrator, explained procedures for identifying gifted students at all levels. Summer school for gifted students will again be offered.

Collins reported that four students were entered in a Junior Student Olympiad which tests critical thinking skills. In addition, four junior high students have been selected to attend an archeological "dig."

At the elementary level, Young Authors awards have been decided on and contestants have been entered in a writing talent search.

The Council learned that state funding will be slightly increased for next year. Secretary Jane Isenbarg reported information necessary for parents to subscribe to the Gifted Children's Newsletter and alerted them to a magazine article. Refreshments provided by the officers were served by Patty Thomas.

Tuition summer classes planned

With no basic state funding available, summer school in Granite City again will be on a self-supporting basis in 1984.

The six-week program will be conducted in June and July.

Projected tuition is $40 per course for high school credit classes.

Elementary and junior high school strengthening, review and special interest classes are planned at $40 per two-hour course.

Other plans include:

- A mathematics summary workshop.
- High school, junior high and elementary band instruction for $12 a student.

- Special education, on a limited basis, reimbursed by the state.
- Vocational cosmetology for students already in that program.

- Gifted classes for youngsters in the first through eighth grades; a $40 charge will cover tuition and materials.

Refunds will be given for withdrawals, up to the first day of classes. If a proposed class fails to attract sufficient enrollment, it will be canceled and the money refunded.

Damage parked cars driver charged DUI

Richard D. Smith, 37, of 301 Wilson Park Lane, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol last week following an accident in the 2100 block of Adams Street when his northbound auto allegedly struck a parked Chevrolet, belonging to Taylor Rentals, 3981 Lake Drive.

The impact pushed the parked car into a 1968 Plymouth, also parked and owned by Dale Wimberly, 2158 Adams St.

Smith, who was standing in the middle of the street when officers arrived, declined to take a breathalyzer test. He was additionally charged with driving while his license was suspended and was released upon posting a $302 cash bond.

TRESPASSING IS ALLEGED

Carlos E. Newbern, 23, of Brooklyn, was arrested for trespass to land last week by Venice police, after he allegedly was seen peeping into the windows of a residence at 400 Main St., Venice, he was released on $52 cash.

DUI CHARGE; SIGN STRUCK

Colleen McCabe, 22, of 2306 Cleveland Blvd. was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and transporting beer after her auto hit a street sign last week on Oregon Avenue at St. Paul Avenue.

Chouteau electors are told of surpluses in town funds

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

After the end-of-the-year financial report for Chouteau Township was read and accepted at the annual town meeting Tuesday night, Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks addressed the audience, stating there was a balance in each of the funds and the township is free of debt.

"The township is not broke, did not have to borrow monies and has no anticipation warrants, so I think this is good business and the officials have done a good job keeping expenditures down. All township money has been deposited in interest-bearing accounts, including the checking account so we are in good condition," Sparks explained.

Clifford Losch of South Roxana, was elected moderator for the meeting. He inquired about a junk yard located along Route 111 and wanted to know if the township had jurisdiction over this area and could have the location cleaned up.

In answer, the supervisor said that since Madison County Building and Zoning took over enforcement in the townships in 1973, it is their responsibility to send notices to violators of the existing codes.

The moderator said he thought the township should send a letter to the county building and zoning office airing their disapproval of the conditions in and around the junk yard.

The supervisor's annual financial statement, by funds, follows:

Town fund—beginning balance $64,579; receipts—$136,756;

expenditures—$82,382; balance $54,947.

Federal Revenue sharing fund—balance on hand, $25,468; receipts—$59,853; expenditures—$26,943; balance—$58,378.

General assistance fund—balance on hand—$114,249; receipts—$131,172; expenditures—$22,840; balance—$166,581.

District treasurer's annual report—general road and bridge fund—balance on hand—$5,914; receipts—$73,002; expenditures—$40,369; balance—$12,633.

Permanent road fund; balance on hand, $20,506; receipts—$91,514; expenditures—$75,855; balance—$15,679.

A detailed listing of the annual report was published in the April 9, 1984, edition of the Press-Record.

Pursuit ends in 5 traffic charges

Charles E. Nash, 20, of 806 Iowa St., Madison, was booked on five traffic charges following a pursuit by Granite City police at 2:15 a.m. Wednesday.

According to reports, the chase started at Nameoki and Johnson roads when an officer noticed two motorcycles traveling south, neither of which had registration plates.

When police turned on their squad car's red lights, one of the motorcyclists, Jeffrey L. Niehaus, 20, of 1115 McCambridge Ave., Madison, pulled to the curb near the front of Granite City High School.

The second motorcyclist, later identified as Charles E. Nash, 20, of 806 Iowa St., Madison, was chased south on Madison Avenue, west on 30th Street and then south on Grand Avenue, reports said.

Nash was charged with driving while his license was revoked, fleeing and attempting to elude police, not having a valid registration and two stop sign violations. His motorcycle was towed.

Niehaus was ticketed for not having a valid registration and was released at the scene.

ESCAPE WITH FOUR HUBCAPS
After stealing four hubcaps off the parked auto of Debra Feenster, 2703 Denver St., at 25th Street and Madison Avenue last week, two men escaped by running east on 25th.

300 senior citizens at Chamber Clean-Up meeting

Approximately 300 senior citizens attended the weekend dance meeting held at the Granite City Center, Belleville Area College, held in conjunction with the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Clean-Up Campaign.

The "awareness day" was sponsored by the Community Betterment Committee of the Chamber in preparation for the event scheduled for Saturday, April 14, throughout the area.

Mrs. Shirley Adams, chairman of the dance and public relations chairman for the clean-up project, opened the festivities by introducing Senator Sam Vadalabene. He addressed the audience on the spring clean-up and presented Mrs. Adams with flower seed packets for 500 residences of senior citizens throughout Granite City, Mitchell, Pontoon Beach, Venice and Madison.

Also introduced was William Patton, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Jim Steel, public relations representative of McDonald, Inc., Mary Brown, member of BAC Granite City and Mrs. Alford, coordinator for the Five-Star Club of Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, Juanita Crawley, president of several senior citizen clubs and Mrs. Coleen Bringer of Girl Scout Troop 772.

Mrs. Bringer spoke about the drive which will take place this weekend and continue through April 20, involving over 300 Girl Scouts and 400 Boy Scouts.

Refreshments of cake and coffee and an orange drink, courtesy of McDonalds and soft drinks from the Pepsi Cola Co., was served during the social hour.

Music for dancing was provided by Howard Boltons Aleycats band.

Mrs. Adams asked all present to "spread the work" about the campaign by asking friends, neighbors, churches and other organizations to cleanup yards, alleys, basements, attics and other areas during the spring event. She added the street and sanitation departments will pick up larger items not normally collected by the regular weekly pickup.

GIFTS. Mrs. Juanita Crawley, left, accepts flower seeds, a token of appreciation from senior citizen clubs, from Senator Sam Vadalabene who donated the packets, as William Patton, president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, and Shirley Adams, chairman of the "awareness day," look on. The event was held at the Granite City Center, Belleville Area College, in conjunction with the Clean-Up Campaign set for Saturday throughout the area.

In Granite City residents are to deposit items near the curb for pickup, and in Chouteau Township they are to call Wilford "Bud" Ebehardt for their pickup service.

In other communities there will be dumpsters located at various areas for the people to use during the weekend and through April 21.

Assisting Mrs. Adams was, Jim Steel, Rhonda Boliver, Mrs. Alford and Girl Scouts from Troop 210 and Troop 772, accompanied by their leaders.

The scouts included Nanette Beck, Priscilla Clements, Michelle Bailey, Gilberta Steward and Mrs. Beverly Rapp of Troop 210. Also, Malessa Miskell, Dawn Rapp, Sandy Steover, Marla Bringer and Mrs. Bringer of Troop 772.

Merchants and organizations who contributed to the social meeting were, McDonald's, Inc., Pepsi Cola, First Granite City National Bank, Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, Grand Cafe, Bellinger's, Gateway Loan, Madison-Venice Rotary Club, pretzels from Cornal Liquors, David Schermer and Christ Pashoff.

New school loan totals $1 million

Borrowing of an additional $1 million was authorized by the Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night.

The funds will be obtained when needed from the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank. Because there was only one bid, board policy called for it to remain unopened until the meeting.

The bid offered a fixed annual interest rate of 9.5 percent or a flexible rate of 2 percent below the prime rate (now 12 percent); 9.5 was chosen on the recommendation of Finance Director Norman Owca.

The $1 million will consist of second-year tax anticipation warrants, to be repaid from 1984 taxes (1985 collection).

Owca told the board, "As of April 5, we have borrowed $7,300,000 in education fund warrants out of the previously approved $7,400,000. The request today is for another $1,000,000 to be used as needed."

"My projection of total borrowing in the education fund this year is still on target at the estimated $8,200,000 that I informed you of at previous meetings."

Board Member Dewey Melton commented that while no unopened cash flow problem is likely in 1983-84, one could occur in 1984-85.

The district is ending an annual budget imbalance this year and hopes to begin retiring its operating debt this year or next year.

With $587,000 expected this month from the Knights of Columbus, purchaser of Johnson School, it was decided to deposit it in "accounts payable," with Owca instructed to immediately invest it at the best available rate.

The action will allow more time to decide whether to use the money in the education fund or building fund.

Lower prices at '84 DuQuoin State Fair

DuQuoin State Fair officials plan a new format for this year's fair Tuesday, Aug. 28, through Monday, Sept. 3, Labor Day.

"For 1984 we have developed a compact and comprehensive fair set upon the premise of quality versus quantity," says Fair President Saleh S. Jabr. It will target the family unit as its major goal, and there are downward adjustments of prices in all areas.

Admission price has been set at $1 per adult, with children six and younger having free admission. General parking will be free to the fairgoer, while inside parking will be $2 per vehicle.

The midway will once again feature Evans United Shows, with increased rides, for a total of 30 separate attractions.

Two to three free entertainment stages will be situated throughout the fairgrounds, playing on a constant daily basis.

Under present development are novelty exhibits, educational, commercial and industrial.

Alabama, current "entertainers of the year," will perform Aug. 30.

The World Trotting Derby will take place Sept. 1.

March of Dimes Walk-A-Thon April 28

The planners for the Granite City area March of Dimes Walk-A-Thon to be held at the Granite City Army Depot, Niedringhaus Avenue and Route 3, are hoping to have their most successful campaign ever in 1984. In recent years, the Granite City walk has been a top achiever in participation and funds solicited in the Metro-East area. Registration for this year's walk begins at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, April 28, and the walk formally begins at 9 a.m.

Not only will Granite Citizens be walking on the 28th, but that is the date in which walks are conducted throughout the country. Prior to the walk, individuals will be asking for money for each kilometer that they walk. The money then is collected from those sponsors after the walk.

While in years past, prizes have been awarded based on who brought in the most money, this year, prizes are to be awarded based on the level of monies brought in with no limitation as to the number of prizes that can be awarded at that particular level. For instance, walkers who turn in more than $1,000 will be awarded a microwave oven, those who turn in over $500 are entitled to a color television, and there are lesser prizes for lesser donations. A flyer that accompanies the sponsor forms describes the prizes.

Aside from individuals walking, this year team walks also are being encouraged. Team walks operate on the same principle, except that they collect money as a team and are awarded prizes based on the amount the team has collected. Team prizes are the same as for individuals and trophies also will be presented.

For all participants there will be free March of Dime souvenirs, and cheeseburgers and soda donated by Hardee's Restaurant, Madison Ave. Hardee's, formerly Burger Chef, has been the food sponsor the past three years for this community project.

Sponsor forms and flyers are available to walkers through the elementary schools in the area or from Edward Fitzhenry at 1939 Delmar Ave., telephone 876-8500. The same sponsor forms that are used by individuals are to be used by those participating in the team competition.

Hazardous waste study completed

The most comprehensive report available on the generation, treatment, storage and disposal of hazardous waste in the state has been completed, according to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Wastes listed in the report are those that fall within the strict and limited definition of "hazardous waste" used by the state and national EPA's. Many other industrial wastes are not included. The report shows 603 million gallons of hazar-

Early identification of child handicaps stressed

Students gain from early identification of learning and physical handicaps, according to a statewide public awareness campaign by the Illinois State Board of Education this month.

Project REACH (Reach Early Assistance for Child Handicaps) activities are designed to help parents and guardians about the free testing and services available for children who are handicapped.

Local schools are required by state and federal law to provide screening services for children aged three and older.

In proclaiming April as REACH month, Gov. James Thompson said, "The early identification of physical or learning disabilities in students will enable them to reap the full benefits of their education."

"The joy of learning for children is diminished when physical or learning disabilities are not detected. I urge all parents and guardians to have their children tested if problems are suspected," State Superintendent of Education Donald Gill said. "Excellence in education requires us to provide our children with every opportunity to excel in school."

For this month, the State Board of Education is providing a toll-free telephone number (1-800-25-REACH), staffed by individuals who will take the names, addresses, telephone numbers, ages of children, and the concerns parents have about suspected learning problems of their children.

The information will be sent to the special education directors serving the area of the callers.

STEAL MONTE CARLO

A 1981 royal blue Monte Carlo with a landau roof and spoke wheels was stolen from the driveway at the home of Carrie Varner, 2745 Washington Ave., she reported at 3:15 p.m. Monday.

dous waste was generated in Illinois in 1982. This is based on reports received in March 1983 from 1,043 generators and 312 treated, stored or disposed of on-site while 56 million gallons were shipped off-site for treatment, storage or disposal, including 17 million gallons which were shipped out of state.

The largest volumes are generated by petroleum, chemical and steel industries with many of their wastes being handled on-site. Corrosive waste accounted for the largest single waste type reported, amounting to more than 400 million gallons treated, stored or disposed of during the reporting year. Pickle liquor from steel finishing operations accounted for the largest amount of waste shipped off-site, totaling 11.3 million gallons.

Richard J. Carlson, director of IEPA, said, "We were able to compile this report because, for the first time, in 1983, most Illinois hazardous waste facilities became subject to an annual reporting requirement. Over the past year, the agency has gathered this information, verified its accuracy to the fullest extent possible and organized the material into the most comprehensive report of its kind available up to this time."

"The process has been complex and time consuming, but I feel the results are completely worth the effort. The data contained in the report present the most precise and encompassing information available on the generation and handling of hazardous wastes in Illinois."

The report does not show the number of small-quantity generators.

However, reports from treatment, storage and disposal facilities show 91 small-quantity generators produced 1,084,557 gallons of hazardous waste. This figure does not reflect how much small generators treated, stored or disposed of on-site or shipped out of state.

Treatment, storage and disposal facilities reported a total of 626 million gallons of wastes, including 603 million gallons shipped into Illinois from other states.

Douglas County in East-Central Illinois recorded the highest volume generated, with more than 260 million gallons, all of which stays on-site. Muscatine County was second with 110 million gallons all on-site, and Cook County third with 60 million gallons treated, stored or disposed of on-site and about 25 million gallons generated and shipped off-site.

An estimated 460 million gallons of waste were neutralized and other waste treated; 86 million gallons injected underground in deep wells; 43 million gallons landfilled or otherwise land disposed of; 25 million gallons stored; and 10 million gallons incinerated.

Carlson said, "The management of hazardous waste has become one of the most controversial environmental and political issues of this generation. Unfortunately, much of the public debate has taken place without the benefit of accurate information about the quantities and kinds of wastes commonly encountered as by-products of an advanced industrial society."

"Much of the information relied on previously by the states and the federal government has been piecemeal, based on voluntary surveys that sample only portions of the industrial community. What has been missing, until this current report, is truly comprehensive data that identifies, in detail, the various ways in which wastes are handled, as well as kinds and amounts."

"As new information becomes available in subsequent years, the agency intends to refine its understanding of the waste management system, enhance public awareness of the dimensions of the issue and identify new techniques for managing the state's waste system to protect the environmental and public health."

"I encourage interested citizens and public officials in the state to obtain this report, read it to become familiar with its contents and contact the agency with suggestions for improving the way in which this information is presented. We would like to make future reports truly informative and directly relevant to the concerns of Illinois citizens."

$1.7 million to 3 state winners

Three lotto players each won $1,696,880 when they matched the six winning numbers in the Illinois State Lottery lotto. The winners will collect their prizes in 20 annual payments of $84,844 each.

All three winners identified themselves to lottery officials Monday and Tuesday. The first is Ellahou Elgazar, who lives on the north side of Chicago.

Chester Caszuba, of St. John, Ind., purchased his ticket from Al's Tap in Chicago Heights. This was the second week in a row that a winning lotto ticket was purchased from Al's.

R. L. Farmer, St. Louis, is a carman for the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

Farmer says he marked his winning lotto ticket without looking at the numbers, and he didn't know what his numbers were until he checked to see if he had won.

Michael J. Jones, lottery superintendent, said the three winners equally shared the actual cash in the grand prize pool, which was slightly more than $2 million. The lotto used each winner's share of the grand prize pool to purchase the three 20-year annuities.

If a single winner matches all six winning numbers drawn Saturday, April 14, that Player will collect a $5 million, 20-year annuity. Multiple winners would share the actual cash in the grand prize pool.

The latest winning lotto numbers were 06, 15, 16, 23, 24 and 37.

In addition to the three grand prize winners, 449 players matched five of the six winning numbers to earn second prizes of $1,850 each; 23,614 players matched four of the six and each will collect $53.

POSTS $2 CASH BOND ON TRESPASS CHARGE
After he allegedly became combative with officers at the rear of the Granite City Police Department, 2330 Madison Ave., during the weekend, Clifford J. Cook, 26, of 1939 Cleveland Blvd., was charged with criminal trespass to property. Cook was brought to that location by a man, who was giving him a ride home until Cook became too difficult to manage, the motorist told police. Cook was released after posting a $52 cash bond.

SAVING THE STATUE. Members of the Idea Lab at Wilson School sell 'Save the Statue' pins to schoolmates before the start of classes. The $1 pins have a picture of the Statue of Liberty on them and the proceeds will aid in the restoration of the statue and Ellis Island, on which it stands, for its 100th anniversary in 1986. The project's cost is estimated at $230 million. Buying pins, in foreground, are Lisa Miller, left, and David Justice. Seated, from left, are Tammy Gyoki, Jennifer Brand, Matt Garner and Larry Earney. Standing, from left, are Mrs. Virginia Oram, Idea Lab teacher, Allen Ledbetter, Chris Steiner and Lisa Niemeyer. Schools across the nation are aiding the project with the pin sales.

Corporations in state set record

Secretary of State Jim Edgar said today that almost 26,000 new business corporations registered to do business in Illinois during 1983, bringing the total number of business corporations registered in the state to a record, 180,772.

"The 25,983 new business corporations that registered in Illinois last year was up seven percent from 1982 registrations," Edgar said, "and resulted in the state being ranked fifth in the nation in new business incorporations."

"During 1983, corporations registered to do business in Illinois paid $49.6 million in franchise taxes," Edgar said. "Franchise tax revenue, which goes into the state's general revenue fund, increased nine percent last year.

"Illinois' position as one of the nation's leading business centers will be enhanced by the new corporations act, which goes into effect July 1, 1984," Edgar said. "The new act removes much of the red tape, legal expenses and delays that discouraged corporations from incorporating in Illinois in the past."

Corporations wishing to do business in Illinois are required to register with the Corporations Department, file an annual report, including a list of corporate officers, and pay annual franchise taxes.

Edgar said 1984 marks the first year that the deadline for corporations to file their annual reports and pay their franchise taxes is being staggered to coincide with the individual corporation's incorporation date.

"With this change, annual reports and franchise taxes will be processed more efficiently and the tax revenue will bring earning interest for the state more quickly," Edgar said.

Edgar said the 3,550 not-for-profit corporations also registered with the Corporations Department during 1983. There are a total of 45,000 not-for-profit corporations registered in Illinois.

Campbell Ambulance to expand level of service

By ROGER D. SMITH

This week, National Emergency Medical Services Week, Campbell Ambulance Service (CAS) is announcing an expansion in the level of emergency care to their patients.

After one and one-half years of operation, the Granite City Division of CAS will soon be offering pre-hospital care at the EMT-Intermediate level.

At this level, the EMT-Is will be able to perform all functions of the EMT-Ambulance classification, such as CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation), basic oxygen therapy, fracture immobilization, basic trauma management, plus, the EMT-Is will be able to utilize some specialized techniques in the pre-hospital setting.

EMT-Intermediates also will be able to start IV's (administering intravenous fluids) in the field for treatment of life-threatening conditions such as shock, apply Military Anti-Shock Trousers (MAST Suit) to force blood from the legs and abdomen to more vital organs of the body in situations of acute blood loss, and will be able to introduce Esophageal Obturator Airways in times of cardiac or respiratory arrest. The latter device provides a better airway for the patient and can deliver 100 percent oxygen.

Four CAS employees recently graduated in the top-five category of Oliver C. Anderson Hospital's first Mobile Intensive Care Unit's training program. The four-month, 240-hour class covered the use of the above listed equipment, plus intensive training in EMT-I roles and responsibilities, human anatomy and physiology, patient assessment and shock.

The lead instructor for the program is Mark Wilkinson, who also serves as MICU-nurse coordinator. Wilkinson, who is enthusiastic and positive about the success of the program said, "The people in this class, as individuals and a class, per se, have my utmost faith and confidence."

Roger Campbell, owner of the local service added, "I've watched all four of my people progress through the program and have been more than impressed with their knowledge and capabilities that they have learned and with their overall dedication to their profession."

Initially, the service will be provided on a part-time basis. "We'll begin under what are termed 'supervised field experiences' before the end of April," Wilkinson stated.

The "supervised field experiences" are necessary so that evaluators from the MICU staff can double check the proficiency of the graduates and evaluate how they will perform under field conditions. "Within three to four months, the system should be fully operational at the EMT-I level," Wilkinson said. When this occurs, the four EMT-Is will be able to function solo in the field on the advice and consent of physicians in the Emergency Department at OCA.

The commitment by Campbell's to the OCA-MICU system does not however mean that all patients will go OCA, Wilkinson clarified.

"Concerning the disposition of patient treatment and transport in the system, the patients will, as they have before, be transported by any EMS agency in the system to the facility of their choice."

The four graduates representing CAS who will eventually provide the 24-hour, seven-day-a-week service are Dale Bowie Jr., James J. Chiappo, Bob Simmons and Roger D. Smith.

To sum up the advantages of EMT-I service over EMT-A service, Wilkinson stated, "The establishment of the EMT-I classification represents a quantum leap in pre-hospital EMS (Emergency Medical Services) as compared with the basic skills of the EMT-As."

In summation, Campbell stated, "Our primary goal is what our company title implies and that is ambulance service. With the EMT-Is, we will be able to increase our capabilities multi-fold, thus giving us the ability to offer the best patient care possible. And that is what Campbell Ambulance Service and EMS is all about."

GCHS Spanish students do well in proficiency test

The Illinois State Board of Education selected Granite City High School for a Foreign Language Oral Proficiency Test that was administered on Monday, March 26, by a state accredited examiner, Richard Dulka from Eastern Illinois University.

Gilbert V. Walsmley, the High School principal, granted the use of the school's language laboratory facility for the demonstration. The test was intended to explain and display the recently-developed oral proficiency program promoted by the State Board of Education.

Teachers from the high school, plus instructors from the Alton, Collinsville, Edwardsville and Hazelwood school districts, attended the program, which included interview examinations conducted entirely in Spanish.

Eight Granite City High School students were selected to participate, Richard Schierling, Anita Rojas, Laura Andrews, Rene Ousley, Kelly Padgett, Craig Patton, David Brake and Claudia Kachigian.

The system uses a natural conversational interview in the foreign language to rate oral proficiency according to a nationally normed and recognized scale. It was developed in response to recommendations of President's Commission on Foreign Language and International Studies.

Based on the foreign language rating test used with federal employees, the system is being accepted by employers and college admissions offices. With support from the U. S. Department of Education, the State Board of Education has been making significant progress in training foreign language teachers to use this revolutionary evaluation process, according to John Selmeier, Chairman of the Foreign Language Department at GCHS.

Agency jobs for aid recipients in Madison County

A new work experience opportunity for unemployed public aid recipients participating in the Win Demonstration Program has started in 12 Illinois counties, including Madison County.

Illinois Public Aid Director Gregory L. Coler says, "The new program, called the Illinois Work Experience Program (IWEP), provides unemployed aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) clients with meaningful work experience or job training."

"Such experience enhances their employability potential, gives current employer references, and helps them to secure private-sector jobs."

"Employment for welfare recipients brings a sense of self-worth to persons who previously have relied on others for support. In addition, state expenditures are reduced."

Currently, most individuals who are unemployed and receive AFDC initially seek employment during the independent job search phase of the Win Demonstration Program.

Exceptions include those who must remain at home to care for a child under six, who are under 16 or over 65, or who are incapacitated or disabled.

Those who do not find employment during the independent job search phase are assessed for further referral. Some persons may be referred to education or training programs that would help them find jobs later.

Others continue their ongoing job search, and some may be referred to a more intensified job seeking workshop, such as Job Club or Job Clinic, that includes "how to" training for resume writing, interviews and obtaining job leads.

"Another option is now available with the advent of IWEP," Coler said. "This program is designed to help people who need orientation to the world of work, who need work experience, or who need to sharpen their existing skills."

Individuals are first assigned to an IWEP "pool" and are referred to positions as they become available. The hours of the assignment are determined by dividing the AFDC grant by the minimum wage.

Clients work from 40 to 80 hours a month at not-for-profit and public agencies. Such agencies must serve a useful public purpose and be willing to supervise and assist the clients in developing work skills.

Public Aid staff members are available for ongoing job counseling. Supportive services such as transportation costs and child care expenses are provided to enable clients to participate in the program.

Persons who are required to but do not participate could lose their AFDC benefits.

Coler said a similar program in Chicago for General Assistance recipients has "met with considerable success over the past several years."

The program will operate in Champaign, Cook, Kane, McLean, Madison, Rock Island, St. Clair, Sangamon, Vermillion, Will, Williamson and Winnebago counties.

Laborer hired by GC school district

William Hill was hired as a laborer Tuesday night to fill a vacancy on the Granite City school system's maintenance staff.

An exploratory leave for 1984-85 was granted to Mrs. Shirley Cunningham, a Frohardt kindergarten teacher. She will explore a business venture.

The board extended the illness leave of absence of Mrs. Dolores Eubanks, a GCHS English teacher, from June 1 until January 1985, at which time she plans to retire.

Oren L. Harrison, a custodian at the Maryville and Mitchell schools, is resigning effective May 2. An employee of the district for ten years, including nine years at Granite City High School North, Harrison is moving with his wife to their farm in the Ozarks.

David A. King, continuing as a GCHS industrial arts teacher, will conclude his industrial arts department head assignment, an extracurricular position, June 2.

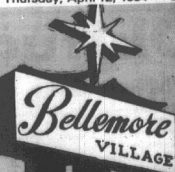

An interim report was received from Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Company, which has been studying GCHS clerical work and records. The final report is planned May 1.

A student survey will be conducted to determine the number who might enroll if Latin returns to the curriculum. Mrs. Marilyn Ronney suggested the teaching of Latin in a letter to Supl. B.J. Davis, citing a University of Illinois faculty member's comments on the importance of the study of Latin by high school students.

Letters from two employee groups advised the board they wish to negotiate the terms of new working agreements; existing pacts expire this summer. Those writing were Teamsters Local 525 and Painters District Council 58.

Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. was hired to make a year-end audit of all Granite City school financial accounts and those of Special Education Region 1 as of June 30, 1984. Cost will not exceed $23,725.

Office building proposed

By VALERIE EVENEDEN of the Press-Record

A proposed new office building and annexation of five acres of property on Division Street were issues occupying the Pontoon Beach Village Board of Trustees at their meeting Tuesday night.

McDonald's Restaurants of Collinsville is planning to construct a 20,000 square-foot office building adjacent to its present office site at 3673 Highway 111, the trustees learned.

A request from the McDonald's firm for a zoning hearing in connection with the proposed new building was scheduled by the trustees for 10 a.m. this Saturday at the Pontoon Beach Village Hall.

The property in question, located immediately north of the present office site, currently is zoned for single-family residences.

If approved, the tract of land will be rezoned to a B-2 (community building) site, Village Clerk Mary Warren advised.

Trustee Loren Madison presided at the session in the absence of Village President Paul Bennett.

Adoption of an ordinance annexing property owned by Fred and Sharon Hartline, 4123 Division St., initially failed to gain a majority vote of the board, but was reintroduced with a variance clause and subsequently was adopted.

The five-acre tract lies on the east side of the 4100 block of Division Street, contiguous to the present Pontoon Beach village limits, and contains a total of 14 divided lots. Many lots have mobile homes situated on them, it was learned.

The land currently is zoned for single-family dwellings, Hartline informed the trustees, adding that all lots are 140 feet deep.

Most of the plots are 85 feet wide, with the narrowest having a width of 75 feet, which still meets a requirement that building lots in the village must total a minimum of 10,000 square feet.

Pontoon Beach also has a subdivision ordinance that calls for a subdivision or developer to provide concrete streets and street lighting points which defeated the annexation proposal until a variance was adopted by the trustees.

Hartline said a private paved road runs through the property. All lots extend to the center of the roadway, thereby requiring residents to help maintain it, he explained.

City sewer lines are located down the middle of the property and city water lines are installed at each end of the tract, he noted.

The point at issue with the trustees lay in the legal description of the property, which stated it contained three subdivisions. Hartline contended the word "subdivision" was a misnomer, saying it was privately owned property.

Building Inspector Ben McMillan explained the legal definition of a subdivision. He suggested a variance could be authorized by the board, if the ordinance's requirements create a hardship on the property owner, as a means of resolving the problem.

A variance provision was added to the ordinance and it was adopted without dissent. Trustee Don Rea, however, made the comment, "Anyone wanting to put a mobile home there (on property) had better come and talk to us (the board) first."

Two applications for licenses approved by the board were submitted by William T. Morgan of Morgan Supply, 4145 Pecon Road, for an electrical contracting business, and Robert Bell, 4153 Division St., for an excavating business.

After granting those licenses, the board decided to withhold approval of another application for a license until business references for the individual are checked.

McMillan urged caution in granting licenses and described a recent incident in which an unqualified individual attempted to do electrical and plumbing work on a particular job.

"It was pathetic and we need to keep those turkeys out of the village," he said. "If the people building something are not qualified, I am going to turn it down," the inspector added.

In other business, the trustees agreed to make repairs to a main carrier was having difficulty making deliveries and a change of route may be necessary if repairs were not effected.

Program to study stress in the media

"The Media and You," KETC/Channel 9's six-part monthly series examining the current role of the media, will explore the effects of job pressure on journalists in "The Media and Stress," Thursday, April 19, at 9 p.m. The series is produced by Channel 9 in cooperation with Sigma Delta Chi, Society of Professional Journalists Honorary Fraternity.

"The Media and Stress" will examine how reporters survive the everyday pressures that "go with the territory," such as personal feelings versus objectivity when covering a story; the need to complete assignments accurately and fast; competition from other media representatives and public suspicion that media coverage is slanted or that reporters are not fair. Stress also affects reporters' judgment and their physical well-being.

Host Eric Newhouse and guests Dr. M. W. Buckalew, an expert in the field of professional stress, particularly in communications, at the University of North Carolina, and Darrell Sifford, a columnist for the "Philadelpha Inquirer," also will discuss tensions newsmen face by being in the spotlight.

"The Media and Stress" was taped March 27 in Washington University's Umrah Hall in St. Louis.

In First Home Meet Cahokia tracksters outdistance Warriors, 74-71

By CHARLIE SKAAR
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Warriors lost by three points to Cahokia in a dual track meet Thursday, but not after some last-second surprises during the final run of the meet.

Bryan Bradley of Cahokia grabbed the baton from his teammate in the last lap of the 1600-meter relay. Granite City's Darren Bernaix, behind by about 20 yards, took the handoff and began chasing his competitor.

Both runners knew the Granite City scorer showed the Warriors ahead 80-77. The team that won the relay, the final event of the meet, would receive five points and win the meet. The losing relay team, meanwhile, would be awarded no points.

GRANITE CITY head coach Pete Robinson watched closely. "There's no way he's going to make up that much distance," said

Robinson honestly. "It's just too far."

Robinson's prediction appeared correct. Bradley maintained his 10-yard margin coming into the final stretch.

Then, with Bradley a few strides from the finish line, a loud clunk was heard. Bradley's baton had seemingly popped out of his hand for no apparent reason.

Just as shocked as the stunned audience, Bradley gazed at the baton for a second or two before trying to pick it up.

BUT IN reaching for the baton, Bradley slipped on the cinder track. As his body sprawled across the track, Bradley got a glimpse of Bernaix's legs sprint past.

Granite City's miracle had come true, with the relay team recording its best time of the season — 3:39.7.

Bradley didn't bother to get up and cross the finish line. His angry teammates didn't offer any condolences, either.

However, a discrepancy in the final scores between the Granite City and Cahokia scorers led to the discovery that the Granite City scorer had been erroneously awarding points to second-place finishers in the relays. Instead of winning the meet 85-77, Granite City actually lost 74-71.

"AFTER all that, we still lost," chuckled Robinson. The meet had turned into a four-hour event, unusually long because of combined junior high meet with seventh and eighth graders from Granite City and Wood River.

The Warriors were doing without long-distance runner Jim Robertson, who was recovering from an illness. Also absent for the latter events were Jeff Boese and Ken Kalka, who Robertson said have joined the Marines and had to leave the track meet early because of a Marines banquet.

"With those guys here, we could have walked away with it," said Robinson. "Instead, we had to juggle people around."

DESPITE his team's loss in its first home meet of the season, Robinson seemed happy to get a chance to see his runners perform on their home track.

"It gets kind of tiring for the guys to always be driving to meets," said Robinson.

Granite City once again fared well in the longer distances, picking up points in the 3200-meter and 1600-meter relays and first place finishes from senior Kalka in the 3200-meter run and junior Bernaix in the 800-meter run. But the Warriors lost the 400-meter and 600-meter relays, suffered in the sprints and were even shut out in the 200-meter dash.

IN THE field events, Granite City picked up 28 points to Cahokia's 16. The Warriors racked up 17 points in the pole vault and high jump events, while Cahokia grabbed first places in the disc, shot put, triple jump and long jump.

In the junior high meet, the Coolidge eighth graders defeated Wood River 86-50, while the seventh graders won 64-50. The Coolidge girls also won by a score of 80-30.

Win First Dual Meet Madison speeds past Bethalto

BETHALTO — Tuesday afternoon the Madison High School boys' track team did something that was impossible to do thus far. It won a dual track meet. The Trojans defeated Civic Memorial (Bethalto) 88-58.

Although the speedy Trojans have won two quadrangular meets, finished second in a triangular meet and third in another quadrangular meet, until Tuesday they'd yet to win a dual meet.

The reason for that is simple. Tuesday's meet for Coach Charlie Steptoe's tracksters was their first dual of the season.

COMPETING on Civic Memorial's all-weather track surface, the Trojans won 11 of 18 events on their way to their 30-point margin of victory.

Unlike last week's triangular meet in Columbia, the Trojans did not come home with any double winners. This time the Trojans concentrated on improving personal best performances, something indicative of steady improvement.

For starters, Shawn Brown and George Leonard, who have been competing fiercely in the 110 meter dash. Tuesday afternoon Brown won, both registering times of 11.28. Brown simply outleaned Leonard at the finish line.

IN THE 800 meter dash, Delarren Young ran his best time of the season to a first-place finish, 2:10.0. Steve Ball was not far behind, picking up second with a time of 2:13.2.

In the 400 meter relay, the Trojans dashed to their second best time this season, 44.7 seconds. Seeking their best performance of the season, Shawn Brown, Rouzell Porter, Leroy Latham and Leonard sped to their first-place finish.

In addition to the above races, the Trojans were first-place finishers in the two-mile relay, 800 meter relay, the 400 meter dash, the 300 meter low hurdles, the 200 meter dash, the mile relay, the triple jump and the pole vault.

This afternoon, the Trojans will be going for their second dual meet victory of the season as they travel to Trenton to take on the Wesclin Warriors. Both a boys' and a girls' meet, action begins at 3:30 p.m.

Sports of all Sorts Summers: a CHAMPION

By AL BARNES
of the Press-Record

Baseball fans in the Quad-City area have anxiously been awaiting the beginning of the season, and now it's here. The past winter, or since the World Series in October, it has been a sad and hot stove League campaign with an almost absolute dearth of baseball news.

About the only titillating piece of diamond gossip concerned one of the three native sons still in organized baseball, Madison-born and Granite City native until he finished college at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville and signed with the Oakland Athletics, John Champ Summers.

The other two of the trio is a pair of Granite City natives, Dal Maxwell and Francis (Salty) Parker. Maxwell is a coach with the Atlanta Braves, while Parker, after 30 years in organized baseball, is now retired.

Summers, who is beginning his 13th season in the majors, was sold by the San Francisco Giants to the San Diego Padres Dec. 5, 1983. Rumor has it he is extremely happy to leave Frank Robinson. The Giants traded Champ to the Padres for two players, Joe Pittman and Tom Francis.

It is now thought that the Padres, who feel they are ready to make a run for the whole bundle this year, wanted Summers for his proven ability as a clutch pinch-hitter. Last Friday, Summers made good on that, as he managed the winning RBI as the Padres beat the Chicago Cubs.

Tuesday night, in San Diego, Summers reached the very highest point of his major league batting career when he came off the bench to pinch-hit for the Padres against the St. Louis Cardinals in the fifth inning.

With the bases loaded and the Padres trailing the Redbirds, 1-4, Champ hit the second pitch to him by Bob Forsch for his first big league grand-slam home run.

The career of Champ Summers is a living proof of the theory held by many that a player can be innovative and highly successful and imaginative life of Branch Rickey, probably the best judge of baseball talent on the hoof ever seen in the game.

It was Rickey, of course, who pioneered the St. Louis Cardinals' highly successful baseball until it up in the mid-30's.

It was his belief, proved hundreds of times, that "right" was a good athlete and "I'll make an outstanding baseball player out of him." Champ Summers is living proof of the soundness of that theory.

But, believe it or not, he had played very little, if any, baseball before I talked him into "going out for the SIUE baseball team in the Fall of 1971, or between his junior and senior years as a Cougar cougar."

At the tailend of the summer of '69, I was playing tennis at Wilson Park under the lights. I quit about 9:30 p.m. and drove around to the lighted softball diamond on the East side of the park. Just as I walked up to the diamond, the batter who turned out to be Champ Summers blasted a long, soaring homer over the trees onto State Street and broke up the game.

As the players left the park, I talked to the scorekeeper for Champ's team, who told me "Summers had averaged two homers in seven innings all this summer."

So, when I met him later that night at the pizza place managed by his mother (Betty), I asked him if he might consider going out for Coach Roy Lee's first fall practice over at SIUE. He answered: "I don't think so, Mr. Barnes. Because, you see, I've never played much baseball."

When I pointed out to him that I thought that if he could average two homers in a softball game for an entire summer, I believed he could hit any college pitcher in the U.S. or A.

He agreed and the rest is sports history. He signed with Oakland in June of 1970 and made it to the parent club in late 1974, where he played 20 games and hit .315. In '75, he spent most of the season with the A's AAA club at Tucson, Ariz., and hit a robust .315.

In April of '76, he was traded to the Chicago Cubs and batted .231 in 76 games, but they dealt him to Cincinnati where he played in 83 games and hit .238. In 59 games with the Reds in '77, an injury cut him down to 206, and at the beginning of the '78 season, the Reds shipped him to their top Triple A club, Indianapolis.

In the season down at Indianapolis, Champ Summers proved that he truly had the stuff of which champions are made. Instead of sulking and pouting about being shuttled to the minors, he promptly went about posting one of the greatest records ever recorded in the minors when he hit .368, blasted 34 fourbaggers and drove in 124 runs in 132 games. And, then after the season was over at Indianapolis, he was recalled by Cincinnati where he hit .357 over 13 games.

The Sporting News named Champ the Minor League Man-of-the-Year in '78.

In '79, early in May, Summers was sold to the Detroit Tigers where he became a great favorite of the Motor City fans. In 120 games, he batted a stout .297 while cracking out 17 homers.

If pre-season dope proves correct, that is that the Padres could make it all in their league, Summers could end up on a World Series winner.

It couldn't happen to a sweeter guy or a better natural athlete.

Weather To Improve GC sports teams get reprieve

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER

Last summer and fall it was the Drought of '83. So far this spring, it's been the Drenching of '84.

For what seems like two months of melting snow and so-so-ly inter-spersed with almost relentless periods of nagging rains, this year's sports season has suffered from innumerable delays, postponements and cancellations.

The area received a temporary reprieve last week from Thursday to Saturday afternoon when the skies cleared and area sports teams were able to squeeze in a couple of games. But Saturday night, Sunday and Monday the rains came again, washing out several high school sporting events.

AN AWFUL everything from baseball to track was washed out. The Warrior baseball team's pairing with Gateway East Conference rival Edwardsville has been postponed to this Friday, April 13, and the softball game also with Edwardsville, has been moved way back to May 8.

Bob Stegmeyer, GCHS' baseball coach, said he can't remember a season that's been so interrupted because of rain, and he's been coaching in the district for some time.

In addition to GCHS' baseball game with Edwardsville, another rivaling pair was slated to see action on Monday, but that was also postponed.

SCHEDULED for Venice's Lee Park, the Venice High Red Devils were to meet near rival Madison on Monday. A date for that rescheduled game has yet to be determined.

Two other events rained out Monday were rescheduled for the following day. When everything else was washed out on Tuesday, both the Warrior tennis and track teams managed to complete their events.

Coach Dick Harmon's tennis team handily defeated Edwardsville 4-2.

Season Record Now 3-1

Warriors defeat Tigers, Shells

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — Granite City High School's tennis team moved back into the top side of the winners' column Tuesday and Wednesday with a pair of victories over Edwardsville and Roxana. The victories improve the Warriors' season record to 3-1.

Playing on the familiarity of their home courts Tuesday, the Warriors split the singles competition with the Tigers, and managed to win two of the three doubles matches to secure the 4-2 team victory.

IN FIRST doubles — the final match to get underway — the Warriors' duo of Matt Sheridan and Rob Lombardi defeated Joe Archer and Scott Wetzel 7-5 in the first set, but the Tigers managed to tie the second set at four games each before the match was cancelled because of darkness.

By then, however, the outcome of the pairing had already been decided as the Warriors enjoyed a two-victory advantage. The result of the match, however, was not meaningless. Should Sheridan and Lombardi win, they would get a higher seeding in the regional tournament which begins May 18.

IN SECOND doubles, the Warriors' David Lipe and Jeff Rush also posted a lopsided victory over Edwardsville's Eric Moran and Jim Olive. The Warriors' senior-junior duo bettered the Tiger pair 6-1, 6-2 for Granite City's first doubles victory of the afternoon.

Warriors Dave Warfield and Jerry Laken teamed to defeat Mark Billeaud and Jeff Grimm in third doubles 6-3, 6-4. It was their victory, the fourth of the pairing, which secured the Warrior team victory.

On their way to victory, Warfield, a senior, and Laken, a junior, utilized numerous passing shots to defeat Billeaud and Grimm, who are both seniors.

TURNING to singles competition, the Warriors came within a few points of taking a 3-1 advantage there. Lipe breezed through Moran in first singles 6-3, 6-0 and Lombardi had nearly as easy a time with Scott Wetzel, winning 6-2, 6-2 in third singles.

But, where the Warriors just missed blowing the whole pairing wide open was in second singles. Sheridan and Archer, both seniors, battled even for two hours before the Tigers' Archer won both sets 7-6, 7-6 in a double deuce match.

Scott Dennis, the Warriors' fourth singles player, lost to the Tigers' Karl Lewis 1-6, 5-7, to even the singles matches at two each.

DENNIS Joyce, the Tigers' first-year coach, said before the pairing he felt confident about his team's ability to win some matches this year," Joyce said.

Joyce explained that earlier in the season, he was not doubting back with his singles players in doubles competition, and consequently, the Tiger record suffered.

"This is my first year coaching high school. I wanted to play as many kids as I could, but as I learned not very many teams do that. In fact, we're the only team that I've seen thus far which didn't use its singles players in doubles is us."

Joyce said.

DESPITE Joyce's change in the Tiger lineup to utilize his singles players in doubles Tuesday against the Warriors, the Tigers dropped their fourth pairing of the season. Still without a victory, the Tigers have lost to Alton and O'Fallon and Gateway East Conference rivals Belleville Althoff and Granite City.

The Warriors' third win of the season came much easier Wednesday in Roxana against the still winless Shells.

Playing a 4-3 format, the Warriors swept everything but the fourth singles competition where Roxana's Jon Bailey defeated Dave Menendez 6-2, 6-2.

IN FIRST singles, Lipe defeated Dave Yeager in straight sets 6-0, 6-0 and Lombardi had an equally easy time with Brian Haug, also a 6-0, 6-0 victor.

The Warriors' Dennis moved up to third singles for Wednesday's match and responded, defeating Darren Petro 6-1, 6-2.

In first doubles Lipe and Lombardi defeated Yeager and Haug 6-0, 6-2, while the Warfield and Laken duo defeated Roxana's Matt Holman and John Kravack 6-0, 6-3.

In the final doubles match of the afternoon, third doubles, Granite City's Dave Aerne and Chris Chen-ever defeated Roxana's Gary McEver and Mark Bates 6-4, 6-3.

Having only lost to Belleville East, the Warriors are 3-1 on the season and are scheduled to see action again on Monday when they travel to Edwardsville to face the Tigers and the Shells visit Granite City on Wednesday. Both matches begin at 4 p.m.

TWO-FISTED. Granite City High School's third singles player Rob Lombardi successful uses a two-fisted backhand to score a passing shot on Edwardsville's Scott Wetzel during Tuesday afternoon's Gateway East Conference match at the Grand Ave. tennis courts. Lombardi and the Warriors were both winners as they defeated the Tigers 4-2.

In Boxing Tuesday

MHC unbeaten in Belle-Clair

BELLE-CLAIR — Granite City's Mexican Honorary Commission Boxing Club continued its winning ways Tuesday night as all four of its entrants were victorious in competition at the Belle-Clair Fairgrounds Exposition Hall.

The four victories continue to add to MHC's success this season in club fights. In all, including the last six club fights, the local boxers have won 19 of 22 bouts. In Gloves action — Golden and Diamond — the local club's record hovers right at 500.

Beginning at 70 pounds sub-novice, Joe Costoff picked up the first victory of his amateur boxing career as he defeated Kirk Douglas of the 12th and Park Streets (St. Louis) Boxing Club.

A UNANIMOUS decision, Costoff's victory over Douglas was particularly sweet, not just because it was his first, but because it also avenged an earlier loss.

Also at 70 pounds sub-novice, Daryl Hahn scored enough in the 20-point must system to decision Joe Huff of the Belleville Boxing Club. Also a unanimous decision, it was Hahn's third in five bouts this season.

"It was easy to see why Daryl scored the unanimous decision," said MHC Coach Mercie Mendoza. "He came out like a ball of fire in the first round. He must've thrown a hundred punches that first round. He was very aggressive."

MHC's THIRD entrant Tuesday was Larry Jordan, a 95-pound sub-novice boxer. Jordan also picked up a little vengeance Tuesday as he defeated Harold Huff of the Belleville club.

Jordan, now 4-2 on the season, lost to Huff last month, but managed to turn the decision on Huff Tuesday.

"Larry's improving every time he fights," Mendoza said. "All in all, from day to now he's improved the most of any one we've had."

Mendoza called Jordan an accurate puncher who successfully lands combinations and then backs off to work in another combination. Jordan's good at "making kids miss," Mendoza said.

MARK Martinez, MHC's 106-pound sub-novice boxer coming off a victory in the St. Louis Diamond Gloves tournament, decisioned Robert Golliday of the Neighborhood

(St. Louis) Boxing Club in MHC's final bout of the evening.

Throwing a flurry of punches punctuated with a left jab, Martinez decisioned Golliday who recently won the Golden Gloves championship in St. Louis.

"Mark's secret is his jab," Mendoza said. "He uses it very effectively and to complement that he has a strong right hand — very strong for someone his size."

Mendoza also credited Martinez with an above average ability to work well inside.

OF THE new boys, Mark's had the most success. Although he's lacking a little of the aggressiveness, he works the jab well and when he's inside he plays very busy throwing punches."

Martinez's victory, his eighth in a row, puts him at 8-1 this season.

With the Gloves tournaments now behind it, the MHC Boxing Club turns its attention to the final competition of the season — the Junior Olympics held April 28 and 29 in Macomb.

Mendoza expects eight MHC boxers will compete for titles.

Outdoors Spinnerbait: One of the best for bass

By MIKE BRIGGS
for the Press-Record

Spring is one of my favorite times of the year to fish a spinnerbait. This time of the year has earned the spinnerbait a reputation as one of the most versatile of bass lures.

When lakes begin to warm up after the winter, bass will become more active when the water temperature crosses 45 degrees. Once the water temperature hits 55 degrees, get the grease hot, spinnerbait season has arrived.

It can be difficult at times to locate bass in the spring. One day they may be feeding in very shallow water. The next day, they may be in 6 to 10 feet of water. One day they may be occupying water near the surface, the next day, they will take a lure bumped lowly along the bottom.

In my opinion, the spinnerbait is the only lure that can effectively handle all those situations. It can be fished fast or slow, shallow or deep. In most lakes, the northwest part will warm up the fastest. This is due to the extra sunshine it receives because of the sun's angle, also this area is normally the shallow end.

Because of the warmer water in this section this would be the place to start. Look for areas one to six feet deep near water that is 8 to 12 feet deep. Bass generally inhabit these areas close to spawning time.

Position your boat 10 to 15 yards off shore and cast towards the bank. Cast your lure close to the water, it will cause less splash, and will be less likely to spook the bass.

Keep your retrieve slow and steady, enabling your lure to fish the shallow water near shore and come back across the bottom toward the boat. If you feel the blade stop spinning, set the hook, it may be one for the wall.

When fishing these types of spring conditions, I prefer to use a half-ounce spinnerbait with a number eight single Colorado blade in gold or copper, and white or chartreuse and blue skirt. Using this bigger size blade gives the lure more fish attracting vibration.

While fishing under spring conditions the main things to remember are to look for warm water areas. Bass are cold-blooded and are most comfortable in water 65 to 72 degrees. The other is to be versatile. Know how to use a variety of different lures a number of different ways, and you will catch "Mr. Bass."

Spencer leads Scots to victory

The Monmouth College Women's softball team competed in the Millikin Invitational Tournament Saturday. The women recorded a single 8-0 victory, and went on to drop their final two games 2-3 and 0-1. The Scots jumped out to a quick 3-0 lead over Eureka in the opener, and were never challenged. Senior Karen Friedrich, Pekin, knocked in five runs and scored two on three hits enroute to the win.

Junior Karen Spencer, Granite City, recorded the victory for the Scots.

The Scots fell to Millikin in extra innings in the second game. The guests managed only six hits. Junior Ann Jamieson, Moline, had the only RBIs for the Scots.

The crimson and white were held scoreless until the fourth inning. The Ladies scored a pair of runs on a single by Jamieson. The hosts countered with two runs on three hits in their half of the inning to tie at 2-2.

The two teams remained scoreless until the hosts put a pair of hits together in the eighth inning for the win.

Junior Mary Day, Delavan, took the loss for Monmouth.

The Scots concluded tournament play with a 0-1 loss at the hands of Carthage College.

The Scots outlasted their opponents six to four, but could not muster any runs.

Carthage scored their lone run on a walk, a stolen base and a single. The Scots drop to 1-4 on the year, and will be on the road again Tuesday to face Iowa Wesleyan in a doubleheader.

Corinne, 3, is in need of a family

Three-year-old Corinne was placed in foster care after suffering a broken leg due to child abuse. A small, delicate child, Corinne is about three feet tall and weighs only 33 pounds. Described as "very cute and a real doll" by her social worker, Corinne has large, expressive, brown eyes. She is quiet around strangers, but likes to be held by adults she knows and will ask visitors for candy or raisins, one of her favorite treats.

Corinne is intelligent and likeable and does well in her pre-school program, which she enjoys. She plays well with other children and is described as quiet and non-aggressive.

Although she received medical treatment, her leg fracture has not healed well and she may need additional medical care, according to Steve Blair, a social worker in the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

When asked what the ideal family would be for Corinne, Blair described a two-parent, younger black family able to stimulate and encourage her. Single parents with sufficient time to devote to her would also be considered, Blair said.

Although more foster parents are greatly needed for children of all ages and types, the greatest need is for more homes for black infants and pre-schoolers, he said.

Many people do not apply for foster care because of misconceptions about the program, Blair said. Prospective foster parents need not be wealthy, but should have enough income to meet their own needs. Foster children may share a room with another child of the same sex. Each child should have his or her own bed, however.

Foster parents attend four pre-service training sessions and work closely with department social workers. Foster parents choose the age, sex, type and number of children they will accept and are encouraged not to accept children who would not fit into their families.

Foster parents are paid a monthly boarding fee ranging from $200 to $247, depending on the child's age. Medical, dental and pharmaceutical bills for foster children are paid separately by the state, Blair said.

By law, all foster homes are licensed. The licensing process, for which there is no charge, includes submitting medical exam information, references and undergoing a criminal background check. Department licensing workers visit all prospective foster homes.

Persons interested in caring for Corinne or in learning more about foster home programs may call Jane at 876-8985, Blair said.

TWO COMPLETE COURSE ON USE OF EXPLOSIVES

Darrell Tyler and Dempsey Cross Jr., both of Granite City Laborer's Local 397, 1906 Missouri Ave., have completed a Laborers Union Upgrading Course, "Blasting Seminar" Phase I and II between March 19 and 23.

The objectives of the Phase I Blasting Course are to familiarize the students with the products and accessories used in the blasting industry and to understand the safety requirements for the proper storage, use and handling of these products.

The rules and regulations governing explosive storage, transportation and use in Illinois are reviewed to enable the students to take the Illinois State Blasters Examination. The students also learn the principles of blast design for highway work and other construction applications.

Psalm 53: "The fool has said in his heart, there is no God."

We have only to look around us to see the handiwork of God. There is no possible way this earth could have been created by accident. Even more far fetched is the idea the universe could have just happened.

If we believe there is a God then we must believe He created the heavens and the earth. If we believe this then we must believe God created man. Many people believe these things, but their faith stops at this point. God not only created us, He also loves us. He is concerned about our hurts and disappointments our faults and failures our doubts and fears our illness and pain.

The Bible says not a sparrow falls from the sky that our heavenly Father does not see. How much more do you think He cares about something He made in His own image and likeness. Don't say in your heart there is no God, rather ask God to reveal Himself to you. Don't be surprised when He does! Ask Him. Today.

People will sometimes contact this office and indicate that their doctor has committed medical malpractice. According to Illinois law, a physician is required to use reasonable skill. Generally speaking, it is not enough for a patient to show merely that a good result was not obtained to support a malpractice action. The patient will have to show that the physician or surgeon was unskillful or negligent and that this resulted in injury to the patient.

Not only does the patient have to demonstrate that the physician was negligent, he will also have to prove to a jury exactly what damages he has suffered. It normally takes two to three years to get a case like this to trial and costs a substantial amount of money to prepare the case. In most cases, the person bringing the action will have to bring in another physician to testify as an expert witness that there has in fact been malpractice. If a person has not suffered substantial injury, it may not be worth pursuing the case in court because of the expense and time involved.

In a recent case, a four month old child was admitted to the hospital with breathing problems. The child was given a particular drug over a period of twenty-four hours. The child eventually suffered a severe reaction to the medication, and there was a loss of oxygen to the brain for several minutes. The child lived but is now severely retarded.

Normally the mere fact that a patient reacts to medication does not constitute medical malpractice by itself. Certainly if the medical literature indicates that there is a possibility of an allergic reaction, the physician would have a duty to warn the patient of this possibility. In this case, however, the medical literature indicated that this particular drug was not recommended for small children. When the child suffered the severe reaction, tests indicated that the infant had several times the recommended adult dosage in his system.

There appears to be medical malpractice in this instance. Whereas this case has not yet been decided by a jury, the doctor, the hospital and the pharmacist have been sued for malpractice. One important statistic should be kept in mind by those contemplating a malpractice action, however. Nationwide, 80% of the medical malpractice cases that go to a jury come back in favor of the doctor.

SUIE ceramic show begins Sunday

"Platters and Related Forms," featuring the work of 50 of the most inventive and important ceramic artists in the country, will run from April 15 to May 4 in the University Center Art Gallery of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The public is being invited to the Opening Reception from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, April 15. Regular gallery hours are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

THE SHOW is presented by SUIE's department of art and design — the exhibition is the third in a series of annual exhibits organized by the ceramics — glass artists and students. The previous two, "Teapots-USA" in 1982 and "Illinois Glass 83," provided the impetus to continue scheduling yearly shows that bring the work of regional and national artists in clay and glass to the area.

The guest curator, James Ropley Schmidt, has assembled the work of 50 artists for this show. In his introduction to the documentary catalogue, curator Schmidt notes that while the platter is one of the most common ceramic forms, it is probably subject to the least practical use.

"JUST AS the camera freed the painter and printmaker from roles as recorders of societal happenings, so too, has the availability of inexpensive mass-produced dinnerware freed the ceramicist from a similar bondage. It is a mistake for current students of the ceramic arts to think that they are studying to become potters. Even those who become functional vessel makers will by necessity become primarily aesthetic stylists. The handmade pottery market exists today only for individualized work readily identifiable by stylistic concerns."

In describing the exhibition,

Schmidt claims that it attempts "to catalog the work of 50 individuals as they ask and answer aesthetic questions. Some emphasize the act of decoration in striving for a lyrical beauty. Others assault our senses and force us to seek visual satisfaction in their distortion of form and surface. No individual work will speak with the same voice to every viewer...."

The complete show catalogue will be available. This exhibition is supported in part by grants from the Illinois Arts Council, the Wagner Pottery Association, the SUIE department of art and design and the SUIE Foundation.

FOR FURTHER information, interested persons may call Dan Anderson at 1-692-3600.

Winners of research awards announced

Winners of the 1984-85 research scholar awards at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have been announced by Vaughnie J. Lindsay, dean of Graduate Studies and Research.

This year's recipients are Toby D. Griffen, associate professor of foreign languages and literature, and three faculty members from the School of Dental Medicine's department of biomedical sciences — Thomas E. Nelson, chairperson, William Whitson, professor, and Allen S. Otsuka, assistant professor.

GRIFFEN RECEIVED the award for his proposal, "Standard Swabian Orthography." Nelson, Whitson and Otsuka were given the award for their proposal on "The Study of a Non-Collagenous Protein of Fetal Bone."

According to Griffen, Swabian is a distinct Germanic language (closely related with Alemannic or Swiss German) spoken in the southwestern region of West Germany. The language has its own writing system, Griffen said, making it necessary for those who speak the language to write in the standard German language — a task that does not fit phonetically or grammatically with Swabian.

Swabians are considered to be speakers of a substandard social status because of it. Griffen plans to develop standard Swabian orthography, which he feels will help alleviate this major problem for Swabians.

NELSON, WHITSON and Otsuka will begin the process of characterizing and elucidating a biological function for a 24,000 molecular weight glycoprotein (24K protein) isolated from the compact bone of the fetal calf.

The researchers hope to extend previous experiments and show that the protein does prevent bone resorption (destruction). If this can be proved, the protein could then be important in the therapeutic treatment of osteoporosis, a bone disease common in elderly people.

In addition, the researchers feel the protein may have a similar therapeutic value in the treatment of the bone loss associated with periodontal disease, currently the major cause for tooth extractions in this country.

EACH PROJECT will be awarded up to $7,500 in direct costs and one-third assigned research time for the researchers during the academic year.

All proposals submitted to the competition were reviewed by two external evaluators who have expertise in the field of the proposed research. They were also reviewed by the appropriate school research committees, with the final review and selection made by a panel representing each of the participating disciplines. The proposals were evaluated in terms of significance of the research, originality of the undertaking, research design, competence of the researchers, and organization of the proposals.

Robert T. Malone, professor of art and design, and Janet Scott, associate professor of music, were selected as co-alternates. According to Dean Lindsay, they would share an award if one were to become available.

Church Activities

Confirmation Sunday at St. John Lutheran Church

Confirmation services will take place at St. John Lutheran Church, St. Clair and Dale avenues, Sunday, which is Palm Sunday, at 10:30 a.m. Eleven young people of the eighth and ninth grade confirmation class will become full-fledged communicant members of the congregation, according to the Rev. Samuel Boda, pastor.

Members of the class underwent a public examination Sunday evening at the congregation's final midweek Lenten service. The examination dealt with the class's understanding of Christian doctrine and especially of the Sacrament of the Altar (Holy Communion). The pastor conducted the questioning.

The Palm Sunday service will open with the confirmation class entering the sanctuary, dressed in white robes and carrying palm branches—in procession, reminiscent of the first Palm Sunday.

All church members, friends, guests, and visitors, who attend the Palm Sunday service, will receive a small palm cross made from palm leaves. Following individual confirmations at the altar, each class member will receive a copy of the Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible as a gift from the congregation.

During the course of the service, communicant members of the congregation will also be invited to rise to be "re-confirmed" in their Christian faith, and the church choir will sing appropriate festive anthems. Serving as organist will be Anita Childs, of St. Louis. Assisting in the chancel will be Seminarian Joe Judge III, of Concordia Seminary, St. Louis. He served as part-time instructor of this class, assisting the pastor.

Class pictures will be taken in the chancel following the recessional. The class will experience its "first Communion" on Maundy (Holy) today, April 12th, at 7 p.m., robed in white. All communicant members of the church will also be invited to the Lord's table that evening to commemorate the institution of the Holy Supper.

Donna Gado, Dan Germann, Academic fitness will be recognized

Granite City School District Nine students will be able to participate in a new program, President's Academic Fitness Awards, offered by the U.S. Department of Education.

The idea is described as similar to the presidential physical fitness award program in which local students have participated since 1976. Instead of muscles, speed and agility, the focus will be on brainpower and academic attainment.

The newly created national program will recognize young people who have achieved a high level of academic achievement while pursuing solid academic courses.

Based on standards established by the federal department, about 35 Granite Cityans may qualify.

Man jailed after police try to help

Called to a street fight in the 2300 block of Hodges Avenue at 11:40 p.m. Friday, officers found Daryl S. Cunningham, 28, of 2316 Hodges, on the front porch at that address and the other combatants gone.

Relatives of Cunningham insisted an ambulance be called for the man, who was bleeding from his head. Cunningham declined to go to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and went inside the house, ordering police to leave. Meanwhile officers explained to relatives they could not force the man to get medical aid against his will.

While trying to find out who had injured Cunningham, the victim became abusive to officers and swung at a police sergeant, allegedly hitting his back. Cunningham was finally placed in a squad car, after first lying on the ground, and was taken to SEMC.

A relative of Cunningham, who earlier had been insisting that police get an ambulance, allegedly threatened and grabbed at an officer and also claimed Cunningham was injured when officers tried to put him in the police vehicle.

After being treated at the hospital, Cunningham told officers that he had been talking to one man when two other men came up and began to hit him. One of the men also struck him on the head with a club. The three were in a bite Nova, he said.

Upon being released from the emergency room, Cunningham was taken into police headquarters and was charged with battery for allegedly striking the officer.

TRUCK HITS LAWN, PORCH

Ticketed for transporting beer, Mark Eck, 19, of 2228 Wabash Ave. escaped apparent injury last week, when his pickup truck failed to complete a turn on Fehling Road. It hit a tree on the lawn of the Virginia Peters residence, 3101 Fehling, shrubs and brickwork in the front yard of the Irene Wabash home at 3103, and a driveway and porch at the home of Richard Ingram, 3105 Fehling.

DAMAGE TO MOTEL ROOM

After several youths had been in a room at the Travelodge, 1200 Nineteenth St., it was discovered during the weekend that a mirror had been stolen, a lamp was torn from a bolted position and the lamp shade destroyed, drawers were damaged, beer, food items and burns marred the carpeting and a mattress was soaked with beer, the manager said.

DISORDERLINESS CHARGED

Randy E. Hland, 23, of 705 Kirkpatrick Homes, was charged by police with disorderly conduct when he was found at another apartment in the complex, where he allegedly banged on the door and was screaming at the occupant early this week.

Business, labor experts asked to advise governments on efficiency

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Government can't afford to become more efficient in Illinois, according to the first of a series of special messages to lawmakers.

How to get from here to there is not explained in detail by the staff of Governor James R. Thompson, but the main emphasis appears to be a call for a more businesslike approach, utilizing business and labor leaders' expertise.

"STATE AGENCY managers," Thompson says, "will meet with private-sector volunteers, formulated into the Second Cost Control Task Force coordinated by a management team. (A 1978 task force is credited with helping the state achieve annual savings of $410 million and one-time savings of $20 million.)

"In consultation with agency directors—and after considering the impact on agency programs—by a management team, the Bureau of the Budget and the agency will implement (with the General Assembly as appropriate) the practical recommendations.

"This effort is expected to take six months and will begin June 1, 1984.

"IT WILL REQUIRE the cooperation of the Illinois corporate and labor sectors in supplying high-caliber members for the task force and in raising funds to support the effort."

Other special messages this year will focus on utility regulation, expanding Illinois business, a "contract for educational excellence," a Stop Tax Evasion Program (STEP), public safety, drunk driving law enforcement, coal research, chemical safety, minority business expansion and an infrastructure bond bank.

Still further messages are scheduled on human services and other areas highlighted in the 1984-85 state budget proposal.

The governor is stressing the resolving of challenging issues "within available resources."

A PINCH-PENNY education policy—more dollars but a proportional cutback—apparently may continue.

Granite City School Supt. B.J. Davis said at March 27 public hearing that "Illinois has dropped its direct support to the schools of this state from 48 percent of the school funds to 38 percent. In our district, it has dropped from almost 50 percent to approximately 41 percent."

Thompson's efficiency message offers no guaranteed reversal and instead concludes that "local taxpayers want further cost controls."

This, it is said, is indicated by the fact that "in the past three years only 24 percent of Illinois school tax increase referendums have passed."

"The record of tax defeat points out voters' increasing reluctance to assume escalating costs without question," the governor says.

"AS THE FINANCIAL dilemma becomes more acute, better quality is demanded, leaving the system with the apparent contradiction of the public demanding more quality in education, yet reluctant to pay the bill."

A commission on school efficiency is to be formed, with its chairman serving as a member of the Second Cost Control Task Force.

The message comments that "any call for additional resources must be accompanied by a clear commitment to getting better results from the dollars spent. More effective management of schools at every level must be the first step.

"This state's dedicated and professional teaching staffs must be supported by modern organization and administrative systems."

"CLEAR-CUT lines of responsibility and sound administrative and fiscal management can add to the quality of education by directing administrative dollars into instructional areas."

The message notes "sharply increasing administrative costs," although in the local community the managerial staff size has been cut in half over the last few years.

A lot is at stake, statewide. Elementary and secondary schools employed more than 185,000 full-time staff members and spent more than $5.5 billion in 1982-83 to educate 1.8 million, an average of about $3,200 per child.

Schools generally are the largest local-level tax spender in a community and, in some "bedroom" or "commuter" towns, education is the biggest employer.

AUTHORITY is fragmented, partly as a "check and balance" to guard against excessive peaks and valleys in effectiveness.

In addition to the Illinois Office of Education, there are 57 elected regional superintendents to help oversee the 102 counties.

The region served by Supt. Harold E. "Gene" Briggs of Nameki Township consists of Madison County, and his school workshops are attended by teachers from a second county.

Districts with superintendents hired by elected boards total 1,008, including 15 in Madison County.

As the governor notes, "They are expected to be responsive to students, parents, taxpayers, county, state and federal authorities as well as the General Assembly."

The commission will devote itself to lowering the costs of support services and showing the way toward more unified management.

TWELVE YEARS have passed since grade and high schools were given this kind of state review; colleges and universities were included in state tax recommendations six years ago.

New higher education dollar containment topics will have as their goal "practical cost-cutting to preserve services and to use common sense."

In still another field, Thompson sees savings (at least $60,000 in 1984-85 and more in future years) if legislators combine five state bond laws (capital development, transportation, school construction, anti-pollution and coal-energy development) into a "general obligation bond act."

And he visualizes debt service savings of $55 million over the life of a refunded bond issue if the state adopts "updated refunding," enacts uniform bond procedures and retires some of its high-interest loans.

MADISON MAN CHARGED

Gary L. Walliser, 29, of 1729 6th St., Madison, was arrested by Venice police Monday, and was charged with speeding and careless driving.

High school bands sought for State Fair contests

"Where Illinois Gets Together" is this year's theme of the 1984 Illinois State Fair. And once again the fair is a wonderful place for junior and senior high school bands from around the state to get together.

This year's Music Contest will be held Aug. 13 through the 18. Any school in Illinois may enter its band, orchestra, chorus or stage band. A variety of categories and divisions are offered to give every school a chance to "test their own horn" about their music department.

High school music organizations will be divided into enrollment classifications, however, this rule will not pertain to junior high organizations. They will be competing for plaques and Best of Class Trophy

County studying obscenity ordinance

By JIM WOODCOCK

Madison County assistant state's attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith says the state's attorney wants the county board to pass an obscenity ordinance because of what may be an increasing problem with taverns in several communities. Smith said he discussed the merits of the ordinance with the county board legislative committee Tuesday, and hopes to have the ordinance approved by the board by its May meeting.

SMITH SAID a tavern owner in Godfrey recently asked him about the county's law on obscenity. Smith said the owner apparently planned to have nude dancing and topless waitresses.

Also, Smith said he knows about an effort to start a massage parlor business in Worden.

Smith said those reasons, among others, are why the county needs an obscenity ordinance.

"An obscenity ordinance would give us some ammunition against this type of thing," Smith told reporters. "The guy in Godfrey asked me, 'How far can I go?'"

SMITH SAID an Illinois law on obscenity is somewhat different than a U.S. Supreme Court ruling. He said the state's law allows businesses a loophole of sorts.

"We may need this ordinance every now and then," Smith said. "Otherwise, we may have businesses complaining about censorship and that type of thing. And we don't need that."

"THE THING in Godfrey is a serious matter, and it's my concern and Nellie's (county board chairman Nelson Hagnauer) that the growth of these types of businesses in taverns stops."

Smith said State's Attorney Don Weber strongly supports the ordinance, as does Sheriff Emil Tofant.

The ordinance he is proposing is a standard document offered to governmental bodies by the National Institute of Municipalities Corporation.

Smith said it will take time to modify the ordinance for the county, and the legislative committee must also study it closely before it goes before the county board.

MAN CONSENTS TO BLOOD TEST, CHARGED WITH DUI While on patrol at 12:10 a.m. Tuesday, an officer alleged finding Mitchell R. Gargac, 42, of 2347 Rock Road, seated in an auto which was stopped in the middle of the south-bound lanes of Madison Avenue at 30th Street.

Gargac appeared to be asleep when first seen by the officer, who noted the car's engine was running and the transmission was in 'drive,' reports said.

As no operator was available for the police department's breathalyzer equipment, Gargac consented to take a blood alcohol test at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

AUTOS MEET HEAD-ON, ONE DRIVER INJURED

Andrew J. Hicks, 24, of Maryville, sustained an injury, but declined medical attention. The driver of the second car involved was William C. Fisk, 23, of 2728 National Ave.

Booth offers prizes, blood pressure tests

Persons at St. Clair Square, Saturday doing their Easter shopping may wish to visit Fairview Heights Immediate Care Center's booth. Children will receive a free helium-filled balloon, and adults can enter a free drawing to win large or small Care Bears and an Easter basket for their favorite child.

While there, parents can have their blood pressure tested by a registered nurse, free of charge, between 9:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

Immediate Care Center staff also will man the booth, located on the lower level near B. Dalton Book Store. To distribute information on the Immediate Care Center and to present hand-held fans to anyone who drops by. The fans will have blood pressure information printed on them.

"We're really looking forward to it," said Charlotte Swanson, a registered nurse and nurse coordinator of the Immediate Care Center. "We want to let people know that we provide quality medical and emergency treatment, and that we're really nice people, too."

The Fairview Heights Immediate Care Center is a physician-sponsored group practice that has affiliations with St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville and St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City. A physician and trained staff are on duty 10 hours a day, from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., seven days a week, including holidays.

The Immediate Care Center is located at 10700 Lincoln Trail, across from Dolgins and is just five minutes from St. Clair Square.

"We treat minor injuries and illnesses and no appointment necessary," said Swanson. "The cost is reasonable — usually less than a visit to the emergency room."

Host families sought for exchange students

Flight 504 arrives from Istanbul, Turkey, on July 20, bringing '85 special young people to the U.S. They are AFS exchange students. Right now AFS International/Intercultural Programs is seeking families to open their homes for one year to these students, as well as to more than 3,000 others, aged 15 to 19, from 60 other countries, also arriving this summer.

"Hosting an AFS student offers a uniquely personal way to learn about another country and culture by sharing your home and your love with an international student. Families may be single parents, parents with young children or no children or those with teenagers at home," a spokesman said.

Here is what one AFS host mother said about her experience: "We have had the pleasure of helping our Egyptian daughter learn to cope with life in the United States. It is a challenging experience, one I would recommend to anyone. We would certainly do it again."

To learn about hosting an AFS student for the coming year, interested persons may contact the AFS faculty advisors in the local high schools or the local AFS chapter president or call 1-800-AFS-INFO (1-800-227-4630).

AFS International/Intercultural Programs is a volunteer, community-based educational organization in which high school students, teachers, workers, professionals and families from 60 countries participate. AFS is non-profit, non-political and open to all races and creeds.

FILE CONDUCT CHARGE

The third time police went to an address in Kirkwood, Illinois, where a man reportedly had been creating problems, officers allegedly found Donald R. Garra, 29, of 4406 Kirkpatrick Homes, pounding on a door and charged him with disorderly conduct during the weekend.

Leaking GCHS roof area to be replaced

Roof leaks tend to develop as school buildings age, and the Granite City district is taking steps to cope with them.

A $9,665 contract awarded Tuesday night calls for roofing work at Granite City High School, on the classroom side of the vocational building addition.

A single-ply deribum (rubberized) roof system will be applied by Biebel Brothers, Inc. The task is expected to take ten working days.

Biebel submitted the lowest of four bids. Others for single-ply surfaces ranged from $10,500 to $11,339.

Deribum has been utilized on school roofs in a variety of District Nine locations during the past three years and is proving to be effective, a discussion showed.

Ronald Landman, director of buildings and grounds, recommended that the $9,665 GCHS vocational addition roof replacement proceed without waiting for the end of the spring semester. He described the stormwater leaks as excessive.

Roof damage also has occurred at the former North High School, now leased as a two-year college, Granite City Center. The extent and the repair responsibility are being evaluated.

Hail damage from the April 3 storm has been noted at the GCHS auditorium, Grigsby Junior High School and Nameoki, Prather and Parkview elementary schools.

Fish offered to stock pond

The Madison County Soil and Water Conservation District is sponsoring the sale of fish for those wanting to stock their ponds. There are pond-grown fish, Channel Catfish, 6 to 8 inches are 20-cents, 6 to 8 inches are 30-cents and 8 to 10 inches are 50-cents. Hybrid Bass, 1 to 2 inches are $40 per bag of 20, and 3 to 5 inches at 35-cents, and Bass, 3 inches at 40-cents each. There is a minimum order of five, seven days a week, including holidays.

The Catfish and Bluegill will be delivered to the USDA Building parking lot on Old Alton Road in Edwardsville on April 24, at 2 p.m. The Bass will be delivered in early June.

Fish must be ordered in advance and District Chairman Melvin Balders requests early reservations, since quantities are limited. Containers of pond-water are needed for transporting the catfish, bass and 3 to 5 inch Bluegill. The 1 to 2 inch Bluegill will be bagged. Allow one gallon of water for each four to six fish.

Orders must be placed before April 20 by calling 1-656-5166, mailing orders to Post Office Box 462, Edwardsville, Ill., or stopping by 4 Madison County Soil and Water Conservation District Office in Edwardsville.

Country schools here to be topic

The Old Six Mile Historical Society's program for the final two meetings of the 1983-84 year will cover the topic of "The Old Country Schools."

At the May 7 meeting, the Atkins, Braden, Nameoki, Sand Prairie and St. Thomas schools will be discussed. On June 4, the program will continue with discussions of the Kinderhook, Central, Stallings, St. John's parochial, Mitchell and Franklin schools.

"We feel these programs will be of interest to parents, teachers and students, providing an opportunity for reminiscence by the older people and a chance for the children to learn about schools their parents and grandparents attended," Corresponding Secretary Paula Travis said.

Six Mile meetings are held at St. John United Church of Christ and begin at 7:30 p.m. The public is welcome.

Special invitations have been sent to all elementary school PTA units, high school and junior high principals, Supt. B. J. Davis and the Granite City Board of Education.

Four-year term in Pontoon burglary

David Dickerson, 24, of 4100 Pontoon Road, Pontoon Beach, has been sentenced to four years in an Illinois state prison for an October 1983 Pontoon Beach residential burglary.

The sentencing by Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill followed a Feb. 14 guilty plea.

In the same case, John Kramer, 19, of 7 Jones Park Drive, Pontoon Beach, was placed on three-year probation.

Judge O'Neill fined Kramer $500 plus $50 special costs.

Pontoon Beach police in early October charged Dickerson, Kramer and a juvenile with burglarizing the home of William Lindsay at 22 Jones Park Drive; the youngest of the trio was referred to juvenile officials.

Taken from the home were items valued at $3,500, including a $1,000 accordion plus jewelry, watches and speakers. Most of the belongings were recovered.

CASH MISSING

A total of $232 was stolen from an upstairs bedroom at the apartment of Mary Hoskins, 3503 Kirkpatrick Homes, she reported this week.

SHOPPING FOR BARGAINS. An estimated 1,000 members of the Granite City Steel Employees Federal Credit Union crowded the 20st Street lot recently to look over 64 used rental cars from Avis which were offered for sale. All of the cars were sold in less than two hours, with the credit union arranging financing for many of them. (Press-Record Photo)

Cancer crusaders to offer booklet on improving odds

A Quad-City network of volunteers are making a direct, intelligent appeal to area residents. Darlene Laub and Evelyn Schneider, co-chairmen of the local American Cancer Society's April campaign, report that crusaders will be inviting their neighbors to "Give Yourself the Chance of a Lifetime."

"Volunteers will be contacting area homes with a brochure that will give information on what individuals, according to their age group, can do to detect and prevent cancer at an early stage," they explained.

"Cancer research and treatment is proceeding at an accelerated pace that scientist say was beyond their wildest dreams only a few short years ago," observed the Rev. Don F. Pierson, public relations chairman for the local unit of the American Cancer Society.

"Research has focused not only on who gets cancer, but also on three out of four persons do not get cancer," he commented. Hereditary lifestyles, exposure to radiation and chemicals are all providing tantalizing clues for researchers. Studies that named down cigarettes as a cause of cancer ushered in the present concept that cancer can be prevented. "Today, at least 80 percent of cancer is preventable," Pierson stated.

While much of cancer prevention must come from altering habits or environment, new research strategy is focusing on the body's own immune system. "It is these kind of exciting developments that make us proud to be a part of the fund-raising that will save lives," observed Charlene Pohlman, income development chairman. "We hope that you will be generous when your neighbor calls on you and offers you the pamphlet, 'The Chance of a Lifetime,'" she added.

BOYS TOSS MAIL IN DITCH

Mail was stolen last week from the mailbox at the Cathy Dillon residence, 3172 Jiff Ave. Five youths opened the mail and then scattered it along a nearby drainage ditch. Some of it was recovered, and suspects were questioned.

DUI is charged after near miss with police car

Pontoon Beach police arrested a Granite City man during the weekend and charged him with driving under the influence of an intoxicating substance following a near head-on collision with a Pontoon Beach squad car on Pontoon Road.

Reginald D. Rodgers, 20, of Rural Route Two, Granite City, was arrested about 3:35 a.m. when police officer L. Michael Goodman was westbound on Pontoon Road at the 4100 block when Rodgers' vehicle, eastbound in the westbound lane, narrowly missed Goodman's squad car, the police report said.

Goodman turned around and pursued Rodgers' vehicle, finally catching it at the intersection of Pontoon Road and Highway 111.

Rodgers was taken to the Pontoon Beach Police Department, where he was issued a breathalyzer test for alcohol. Later, he posted cash bond and was released.

TREATED FOR HAND INJURY

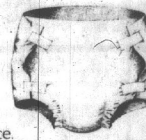

David C. Caterson, 35, of the 2100 block in the Lee-Washington avenues area was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for a hand injury last week, after a door glass had been broken at the home of Dan Tucker, 2149 Lee, authorities said. After the treatment, Caterson was held at the police station on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Rain erosion on Monk's Mound concerns officials

By PAUL GUSE

Recent heavy rains are threatening a local world landmark — Monk's Mound.

The situation is posing a dilemma for Illinois conservation officials. Torrential rainfall has caused erosion of two sides of Monk's Mound, the largest of the historic mounds in Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site.

A LARGE AMOUNT of soil has slipped from the eastern and northern sides of the mound.

"It's frustrating," said Margaret Brown, site superintendent. "We just have to wait for the soil to dry and for it to stabilize."

Mrs. Brown said she may be summer before efforts to repair the erosion can take place.

Friday, the site superintendent met with the Illinois Department of Conservation's engineering department, who inspected the eroded areas.

SHE SAID the erosion is due to the effect of the heavy rains on the "gumbo" type soil which the mound is composed. The soil, when dry, is as hard as concrete, she said. When wet, however, it is very slippery.

Mrs. Brown said because of the dry summer last year, the soil on the sides of the mounds may have developed cracks up to 10 feet deep. After the winter freeze and the thaw in the spring, the soil could break at the cracks and slide down.

After the soil is stabilized, she said, the park will begin filling the eroded areas on the east side of the mound. Mrs. Brown estimates this to cost between $10,000 and $20,000.

The work on the north side will be much more extensive, and much more expensive, she said.

SLIPPING AWAY. Eroded soil on the north side of Monk's Mound in Cahokia Mounds State Park is covered with plastic sheets to slow erosion of the mound until dry weather can harden the dirt.

THE NORTH SIDE of the mound is steeper, and the erosion more serious, she said. "It's going to be a major job, and cost a lot more."

Park personnel first noticed erosion on the north side of the mound about three weeks ago. The washed-away earth on the east side has been discovered more recently.

Since the discovery, the eroded areas have been covered with large plastic sheets to keep the slippage in check.

"That's all we can do right now,"

Mrs. Brown said.

THE RECENT erosion is the first recorded at Cahokia Mounds, but apparently may not be the first in the mound's history.

Many archaeologists believe a "lobe" on the eastern side of Monk's Mound was created by the mound's Indian builders as a stairway up the temple. Some park personnel now believe, however, that previous erosion was the culprit.

Some speculation was given to the fact that a tunnel bored into the north side of the mound may be to blame for the slippage. Mrs. Brown, however, feels the severe action of the weather on the slippery soil is more the cause.

"THE MAJOR problem right now is on the east side," she said.

The tunnel was sunk more than 75 years ago by a member of the Ramsey family, who once owned Monk's Mound.

Cahokia Mounds was named two years ago to the prestigious World Heritage List.

Governor proposes national center for coal research

Governor James R. Thompson has proposed the establishment in Illinois of a National Center for Research on Sulfur in Coal, an effort that would focus on acid rain and other environmental issues.

The governor was to present the plan at the White House in a specialy called meeting with Presidential advisers and federal agency officials.

"Reaching a national consensus on solution to the acid rain issue is critical. But it will be extremely complex and will take time," the governor said.

An immediate national commitment to coal desulfurization research is a positive step we can take now to begin solving the acid rain problem. It is critical from the environmental point of view, and it is critical to the economic future of high sulfur coal producing and consuming states," he said.

The proposal was to be presented to Lee Verstandig, the president's director of intergovernmental affairs, Environment Protection Agency Administrator William Ruckelshaus and Energy Secretary Donald Hodel.

It calls for a $5 million federal commitment in each of the next four years to support sulfur research at the Illinois Center for Research on Sulfur in Coal. The federal funds, when combined with substantial funding provided by the state of Illinois and by the center's member institutions, would allow upgrading of the center's program for a national effort.

"A national center of excellence in solving the problem of sulfur in coal. Until this problem is solved, we cannot fully reconcile our important national goals of energy self-sufficiency and environmental quality," Thompson said. "Stable, long-term funding is needed to expand the scale of research to match the magnitude of the problem."

The governor cited several advantages to building upon the Illinois Center's research efforts. It was well establish and could be expanded immediately. The center is scientifically credible, combining the facilities and research expertise of six highly-respected research institutions. Further, the nation's largest deposits of high-sulfur bituminous coal are in Illinois.

"Illinois is uniquely qualified to be a full partner in a national effort of this type," said Energy and Natural Resources Director Michael Witte. "The Thompson Center has developed the most comprehensive state-funded coal desulfurization program in the country. Since 1980 the government has committed more than $55 million to support demonstration of sulfur removal technologies. As a result, over $75 million in commercial-scale projects are in various stages of construction in Illinois."

"Since 1981, the governor also has committed $4 million for new basic and applied research on sulfur and chlorine in coal. The Illinois Coal Research Board was established to coordinate and fund that research. Last year, a new $5 million fund was established to provide stable, long-term state support to high sulfur coal research and development."

The Illinois Center for Research on Sulfur in Coal, which was established in 1982, draws together the coal desulfurization efforts underway at six Illinois research institutions. The Illinois State Geological Survey, a division of the Department of Energy and Natural Resources; Argonne National Laboratory; Northwestern University; Southern Illinois University at Carbondale; the University of Illinois at Chicago; and the University at Urbana-Champaign.

The center's major research areas include coal characterization, precombustion cleaning, combustion desulfurization and postcombustion cleaning. It also disseminates its research findings to public and private interests. The center is a member of the Geological Survey in Urbana-Champaign.

New regulation of state utilities proposed

Governor James R. Thompson released a report Thursday on utility regulation that recommends several legislative changes in the regulation of state utilities, including a rewriting of state laws for the fast-changing telecommunications industry.

"No area of regulation is more important in terms of its impact on Illinois' citizens and our economic future than that of public utilities," the governor said in his letter to legislators.

"The recommendations in this report seek to develop a regulatory system that is flexible enough to respond to changing marketplace conditions but also rings more accountability and effectiveness to the system."

Under the state's "Sunset" law, the regulatory laws affecting utilities are scheduled to be repealed on Dec. 31, 1985, unless action is taken to keep in force those regulatory laws and the agencies that enforce them. The governor created a Sunset Task Force on Utility Regulation Reform 18 months ago. The governor's report relies heavily upon its recommendations.

Thompson said several steps already have been taken to reform the regulation of utility companies and that the Illinois Commerce Commission has taken other actions to utility pricing problems facing Illinois residents.

The governor said he will ask the Legislature to enact some of the recommendations in the report this session, even though it is a limited session.

One of the major recommendations is the writing of a new Illinois Telecommunications act that will replace portions of the 1921 Public Utility Act, which has failed to accommodate major changes in technology and increased competition in the field of telecommunications. Thompson said his staff is working with an advisory group to work on constructing a new act.

In other areas, the governor's report recommends:

—Legislation be approved giving the ICC authority to require an electric utility to transport electricity through its distribution system from one utility or cogeneration to another.

—The Commission be allowed to conduct management audits of regulated utilities to increase Commission oversight of utility operations.

—Creation of an "Energy Enterprise Zone" near the 1992 World's Fair Site to constructively demonstrate how to install and operate state-of-the-art energy conservation technology.

—Expansion of the state's utility forecasting and planning process to better help utilities meet the need for new approaches to long-term planning. Under that proposal, electric and gas utilities would be required to submit to certain state agencies 20-year plans every two years that outline demand and supply plans.

—Reappropriation in the coming fiscal year of any unused portion of the $100,000 appropriation by the Illinois Commerce Commission for the citizens Utility Board in Fiscal 1984 to ensure citizen participation in the utility regulation process.

—The continued use of federal funds to assist low-income families to help pay utility bills and to weatherize residences. The governor also asks lawmakers to assist in convincing Congress to permit states to receive any "oil overcharge" settlement funds in addition to any of these funds.

The report also proposes to streamline some commission regulatory powers to ease the burden of regulation on utility companies while setting standards in other areas.

BURGLAR ENTERS CHURCH; INVENTORY BEING TAKEN

Items were to be inventoried to determine what may be missing from St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 Nameoki Road, where a burglary was reported at 3:10 a.m. Saturday.

A hinged window in the youth center was pried open to gain entry, reports said. Officers searched the church, but no one was inside the building, it was noted.

VIDEO RECORDER STOLEN

Michael Millender, East St. Louis, told Venice police his car was looted last week, while parked in the 1100 block of Bissell Street. A video recorder was taken from the trunk from the back of a blue shoulder bag, which contained a driver's license and $84 in cash, and a video recorder valued at $49.

After pleading guilty July 21 to an April 14, 1983, Granite City burglary, Thomas had been sentenced by Judge O'Neill to two years of probation, including the last 90 days in jail; $80 in cash was taken from the Lawn Mower Repair Shop, 4100 Braden Ave.

Dispute on lot leads to arrest

Michael R. Johnson, 27, of 832a Thorngate Drive, Mitchell, was charged with assault early this week, following an incident on the parking lot at Charlie's Restaurant, 3120 Nameoki Road, in which Johnson allegedly struck another vehicle with his car in a deliberate manner, reports noted.

Officers were told that Tim Anderson, 24, of 1510 Twenty-Third St., walked Stella Harrelaux of the 3200 block of Carlson Avenue to her 1981 Honda Civic and started the car to get out the clutch, bumping a 1979 Lincoln in front of Miss Harrelaux's auto.

The driver of the Lincoln, later identified as Johnson, then drove forward, hitting the Honda and pushing it backward across the lot, it was alleged in a traffic report.

Anderson also alleged that Johnson rammed the Honda several times, until Kevin Wilson, a friend of Anderson who saw the incident, opened the door to Johnson's car, telling the man to get out. A brief fight ensued, but was over before police arrived and Wilson had left the parking area.

Johnson was released after posting a $102 cash bond.

File DUI charge when pole is hit

Gary D. Taylor, 23, of 2920 W. 20th St., sustained an injury and was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident last week. He was released after posting a $102 cash bond and his driver's license.

An auto operated by Taylor traveling west on Niedringhaus Avenue at Chestnut apparently went out of control and struck a light pole in the 900 block of Niedringhaus Avenue. According to witnesses, a passenger in the vehicle fled prior to the arrival of police.

Taylor, who was bleeding from the nose, was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was treated for a head injury, a blood alcohol test and was released to his father.

Arrest woman, 20, on forgery counts

Mary Ann Wesbrook, 20, of 4485 Vine Blvd., was charged with two counts of forgery in informational documents issued last week by the Madison County state's attorney's office to Granite City police.

Mrs. Wesbrook was taken into custody when she was spotted sleeping in her auto in the 1500 block of Collinsville Street, Venice, by a Venice police sergeant.

She was taken to the Venice Police Department and released to Granite City officers, initially, on a local warrant alleging failure to appear in court on a traffic violation.

The informations alleging felony forgery, issued the same day, were in connection with two weekend reports in which a Granite City resident alleged that a total of 26 checks had been cashed on his bank account at Farm Fresh Dairy, 2230 Pontoon Road, and Len's Amoco Service, 2200 Pontoon Road, but that the signatures were forged.

Sixteen checks drawn on a local bank and allegedly cashed at the service station during March amounted to $505, reports said. A total of $335 in checks allegedly was cashed at Farm Fresh.

Mrs. Wesbrook is a relative of the complainant, reports indicated.
